HIGH COURT STICKS BY WAGE RULING

MOTOR RIDER HITS WALL ON CURVE

Injuries to Placentia
Woman Oct. 5 Prove Fatal Sunday

Orange county's traffic death toll climbed on to a new record high today as Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, 76, Placentia, was listed as the 62nd person to die from accident injuries this year. She died yesterday in the county hospital of injuries incurred Oct. 5.

The total accident death list for all of last year was 60.

Mrs. Evans was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, John H. Evans, which collided with a car driven by Mrs. Johnny Hank, Garden Grove, at North Main street and Santa Ana boulevard. An inquest will be conducted tomorrow morning at the McAulay and Suters mortuary, Fullerton, Coroner Earl Abbey said.

Hits Stone Wall
Meanwhile Monroe G. Beauchamp, 26, Huntington Beach, died in a Long Beach hospital from injuries received Saturday night in Long Beach when his motorcycle raced out of control on a hairpin curve, hurling him headlong into a stone wall.

Three persons were slightly injured last night in a crash on Ball road, north of Stanton, involving a truck and a sedan. The truck, driven by Henry Nakayama, 34, Los Angeles, witnesses said, turned into the path of a car driven by Johnny S. Salgado, 14, Anaheim. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4.)

$10 GOES TO THRONSON

Tell Thronson, manager of the Rex Drive store, 201 North Broadway, receives $10 as a reward for winning The Journal's Football Guessing contest for the week ending Oct. 11.

Thronson picked 19 winners in 24 games, and missed only the Iowa State-Kansas, Ohio State-Pittsburgh, Yale-Pennsylvania, Kansas State-Missouri and Stanford-Oregon games. Two of these five ended in ties.

Four contestants tied for the second place prize of $5, and each will receive $1.25 by calling at The Journal office, 117 East Fifth street. The second-place winners follow: Louise West, 726 Kilson Drive; Liston (Memphis) Hill, 607 Walnut; G. M. Hicks, 1411 South Ross; James Dougherty, 215½ South Main street.

Strike Halts Mining in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Utah's important metal mining industry came to a virtual halt today as workers in every major district joined a strike for higher wages and more strict hour regulations. Union officials claimed more than 3000 men were affected.

Germany Issues Another Warning

HOF, Germany, (AP)—Rudolf Hess, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's minister without portfolio, warned Europe tonight that Germany might have to employ "dumping" methods in international commerce if she fails to get her lost colonies back.

Columbus' Kin Flees Spain

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—The last living descendant of Christopher Columbus today sent a message of thanks for his liberation in Spain to President Agustin P. Justo of Argentina. The message was from Ramon Colon Y. Carvajal, who reached Saint Jean de Luz, France, through the help of the Argentine ambassador to Spain, Daniel Garcia Mansilla. His uncle, the Duke de Varagua, was slain recently by government sympathizers in Spain.

COLUMBUS IS HERO TODAY

It Was 444 Years Ago
He Discovered the
'New World'

By the Associated Press
At 2 o'clock in the morning just 444 years ago today a sailor named Rodrigo de Triana, standing watch in the bow of a little boat called the "Nina," yelled to his shipmates, "Land!"

Christopher, the eldest son of Domenico Colombo and Suzanne Fontanarossa, ran to the bow of the Santa Maria, one of the two sister ships of the Nina, and shouted his eyes Westward.

It was, indeed, land. Columbus had come upon the new world after a voyage of 70 days from continental Europe.

Today, the anniversary of the date on which Columbus named his discovery "San Salvador," is celebrated as Columbus Day.

The "San Salvador" of that day was in the Bahamas, which lie about 1250 miles south of Long Island. Columbus required 36 days to sail from the Canary Islands to the "New World." The other day a German flying boat, napped a proposed transatlantic commercial airplane route from Europe to America, flew from the Azores, 1000 miles northwest of the Canaries, to Port Washington, Long Island, in 18 hours and 20 minutes.

Columbus Day is observed as a public or legal holiday in 35 states of the union.

Anti-Communist Offices Open

Capt. C. W. Smith, retired maritime officer, was in Santa Ana today opening offices of the Constitution Society of the United States, anti-Communist organization.

The society will have headquarters here at room 225 Spurgeon building, from which literature will be sent out and other activities in Orange county directed.

HOEPEL, SON MUST SERVE SENTENCES

Supreme Court Denies Review of Decision on Cadetship Sale

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rep. John H. Hoeppel of California and his son, Charles J. Hoeppel, lost today in the supreme court in their protest against prison sentences of four months to a year for conspiracy to sell a West Point appointment.

The tribunal refused to review a decision of the court of appeals for the District of Columbia affirming their conviction May 18, 1936, by the District of Columbia federal district court.

The government charged that Charles J. Hoeppel, using the name "Charles Alexander," offered to help obtain an appointment to the military academy for James W. Ives of Baltimore, and that Ives gave him a promissory note for $1000 in payment.

Ives testified he received a letter of nomination from Rep. John H. Hoeppel of California, with whom Representative Hoeppel had agreed to exchange appointments. Ives said he later resigned the nomination and told war department officials of his agreement with Charles J. Hoeppel.

Representative Hoeppel and his son contended they had committed no offense, because a West Point cadetship was not a "public office" under the terms of the statute. They also claimed the jury which tried the case was not impartial because five jurors had indirect connections with the government or the army.

MEXICAN RIDERS TO VISIT HERE

Seven members of the highway patrol squadron from Mexico City which recently made a speedy trip to Los Angeles over the new highway from the capital of Mexico will be in Santa Ana next Thursday.

The Mexican group will be welcomed by Mayor Fred Rowland, Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and other city officials. The riders will give an exhibition of their activities. Later there will be a banquet at which they will be honored.

According to Enrique Laurent, director of Spanish programs at KVOE, the riders will perform in the Municipal bowl on Saturday.

During their stay here the men will be interviewed in a broadcast over KVOE.

Typhoon Ravages Philippines; 310 Are Known Dead

MANILA, (AP)—One of the worst typhoons ever to strike the Philippines had caused at least 310 deaths and left hundreds unaccounted for as it spread destruction into additional areas tonight. The latest compilation by the Manila Tribune showed most of the 310 known dead in Nueva Ecija province. Reports were far from complete in four other provinces of Luzon island where the fury of the storm was greatest north of Manila.

REBELS SPEED UP ATTACK

Fascist Drive Toward Madrid Spurred by Cold Weather

By the Associated Press
A siege of cold, rainy weather and the prospect of Russian intervention on the side of Madrid propelled the insurgent armies to new speed today.

Fascist leaders, holding the whip hand in the campaign against the capital with a semi-circular flanking it from the northeast to the southwest, aligned their forces for a thrust they hoped would carry them into the city in 10 days.

Workers' militiamen, however, resisted them actively on all fronts, trying to mould their lines into a massive semi-circular defense inside the Fascist front and on a shorter radius.

Socialist artillery and airplanes maintained a steady bombardment of the San Martin de Valdeiglesias sector, hampering insurgents' efforts to consolidate ranks, but with small success.

Government bombing planes bombed their own forces in two attacks and a force of militiamen was surrounded by Fascist troops in a gorge, with small chance either to advance or retreat.

Some insurgent officers expected momentary orders to advance on El Escorial and Navalcarnero. Both are about 20 miles from Madrid, El Escorial to the northwest and Navalcarnero to the southwest.

REDS PLANNING MORE MEETS

PARIS, (AP)—French Communists, their propaganda tour of Alsace-Lorraine ended quietly, announced today they would reinstate the region for 122 meetings in the near future.

Rightists ridiculed the Communist party rallies, asserting the "mobilization of the masses" brought only 12,000 persons to propaganda meetings in a region with 3,000,000 population.

The eastern border region was calm as strong forces of mobile guards prevented the leftist partisan sessions from developing into political riots. The dominant Catholic party in Alsace urged its followers to prevent disorder by avoiding future demonstrations on both sides.

THE FIRST OF FOUR ARTICLES

Editor's Note: "Social Credit," the most unusual experiment in governmental economics in Alberta, is fast approaching a real test. In the balance also there will be Premier Aberhart, sponsor of the plan and the most talked of personality in Canada today. The Associated Press and The Journal sent one of their most experienced and distinguished correspondents to Canada to report the situation surrounding the experiment. Read the first of his interesting stories below. The others will follow Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

den has not yet been determined, but a sum between five and $10 per month has been mentioned. Twenty-five dollars was the sum tentatively suggested by Aberhart in the early days of his campaign. Later he announced that he saw no reason why the figure should not be $75. This was just before the election of August, last year, and it created a furor of approval

CHEST DRIVE SPURRED BY REPORTS

Workers Will Wind Up
Organized Efforts
On Wednesday

With the goal in sight, Community Chest volunteer workers left their report meeting at the Elks club this noon determined to carry on to a victorious conclusion on Wednesday.

Total subscriptions had reached $29,307 this noon, with $3003 turned in today.

Wednesday was set as the final day for organized work and plans were developed at the luncheon today which are expected to produce the full Chest budget of $35,656.70 by noon Wednesday when the final report luncheon meeting is to be held.

Today's meeting was encouraged by the belief expressed that just a little more hard work will achieve the objective. Leaders in all departments of the campaign pledged additional amounts from their organizations to reach the goal on Wednesday.

NUVOLARI WINS RACE CLASSIC

ROOSEVELT RACEWAY, LONG ISLAND, N. Y., (AP)—Setting the pace for all but one of the 75 laps, Tazio Nuvolari, 40-year-old Italian daredevil, twisted and roared his way to victory today in the $60,000 auto race for the George Vanderbilt cup.

Dog Saves Young Master's Life

NEWARK, O., (AP)—Captain, a husky German shepherd dog, received the cheers of Alexander High school students today for saving the life of his 15-year-old master, Eugene Keckley, the school's cheer leader. Keckley's father, A. C. Keckley, a Newark teacher, disclosed that Captain dragged Eugene from the waters of a swollen creek Friday night after the son had been knocked unconscious by a low-hanging tree limb.

Girl Accused of Killing Lover

KENOSHA, Wis., (AP)—To the charge that 21-year-old Ruth Moran killed a lover twice her age to hide their relations from a young priest, District Attorney John P. McEvoy added the accusation today that she lured the preferred lover with "hoax" letters representing herself as able to aid him financially.

McEvoy said Mrs. Moran confessed she shot Herbert Winter in the back last Thursday in a wooded section near here where he threatened to expose her trysts with him to Leo Lindstrom, 24.

Snow Blankets West New York

BUFFALO, N. Y., (AP)—Roofs throughout much of western New York were white with snow this morning, the coldest Oct. 12 since 1876. The temperature fell 24 degrees to 31 in less than six hours during the night.

The first outstanding move of the Aberhart legislature was to make an arbitrary cut of about 50 per cent in the average interest rates on provincial bonds, with the exception of one small group.

The total funded and unfunded debt of the province is $160,000,000, some 55 per cent of which is held in the United States. The average rate of interest on bonds had been 4.89 per cent; it was slashed to 2½.

A roar of rage, coupled with threats, went up from bankers and bondholders throughout Canada. Breach of contract was charged. But Aberhart, who had been handed Mother Hubbard's cupboard in place of a state treasury by his predecessors, merely pro-

BEET HARVEST COMPLETED

Local Campaign to End
Tomorrow as 40,000
Tons Harvested

Forty thousand tons of beets will be sugar tomorrow.

Orange county's annual sugar campaign is due to close after today, officials of the Holly Sugar company said today. Last payments of several hundreds of thousands of dollars will have been made this week to harvesters and plant and field workers.

Approximately 4500 acres of sugar beets were harvested this year, compared to last year's 6750 acres. The decrease was partly due to a jump in lima bean prices, and partly due to the prolonged dry spell during the past winter, when beets are normally planted.

Nearly 450 workers are normally employed during the factory run here, which lasted just short of two months. Last year's salaries of factory employees amounted to approximately $200,000. This year's figure has not been announced.

U. S. Tries Lettuce Strike Mediation

SALINAS, (AP)—Another mediation move and reports of minor violence marked the six-week lettuce workers strike here today. W. G. Mathewson, federal conciliator from Los Angeles, came here under instructions from the labor department at Washington to attempt a settlement.

MOTOR TAX LAW STICKS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The supreme court refused today to reconsider its decision last May 18 holding constitutional a New Mexico law which taxes motor vehicles being transported through the state for sale.

N. Y. Sets Record For Registration

NEW YORK, (AP)—New York City looked today at a record-shattering list of 2,899,123 qualified voters—a figure 20,000 above the vote in the entire United States 88 years ago.

The total, announced after a checkup of six days of registration, was more than 500,000 above the previous high mark of 2,338,804, established in 1932.

REFUSES TO RECONSIDER N. Y. CASE

Women's Minimum Law
Remains Void; Other
Actions Announced

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT
WASHINGTON, (AP)—As part of a series of significant actions, the supreme court today stuck by its earlier decision that New York's minimum wage law for women was unconstitutional and simultaneously agreed to review an attack on a similar Washington state statute.

In refusing to reconsider its decision last June 1 holding unconstitutional the New York law establishing minimum wages for women, the court held the legislative invalid because it violated the right of freedom of contract. In other decisions, the tribunal earlier had declared the federal government could not regulate wages and hours because that would violate states' rights.

1000 ATTEND VETERANS' PICNIC

Spanish War Group of Citrus Belt Meets at Irvine Park

Approximately 1000 members of the United Spanish War Veterans and their auxiliary organizations, and families, composing the Citrus Belt U. S. W. V. club, attended their last monthly picnic meeting of the year yesterday at Irvine Park.

Roll call revealed that 32 camps and 28 auxiliaries were represented, with over 100 Santa Anas present. The Citrus Belt club includes every Spanish War Veteran association south of Tehachapi.

William Winders, Los Angeles, president, conducted a short business meeting, with Past Commander Jesse Johns of Long Beach acting as secretary in the absence of Frank P. Rowe of Santa Ana.

Prominent Guests
Visiting notables introduced were Lucy Addington, department president; Charles E. Dixon, Al C. Munson and E. Earle Green, past department commanders; Lena Teter and May Glaze, past presidents; Elmer L. Cole, senior vice department commander; Ida Blakemore, senior vice department president; Ida McLaughlin, department historian, and Laura Hinkle, department guard.

Mrs. Addington lauded the organization in a brief speech, and Congressman John H. Hoepfel, a past commander of the Monrovia camp, spoke on acts of congress pertaining to veterans, and discussed the prospective action of the next congress.

Patriotic Move
Supervisor William C. Jerome of Orange county, welcomed the assemblage on behalf of the board of supervisors.

The formal meeting and program ended with a motion by the chairman, W. W. Tantiinger, who proposed that veteran associations all over the United States should follow the example of the various veterans groups in Santa Ana, and urge their funeral parlors to erect flag poles at their places so that the flag could always be displayed at half mast during veterans' funerals.

MORE ABOUT SOCIAL CREDIT

on all private debts contracted prior to July 1, 1932, the interest should be wiped out up to July 1, 1936. All interest already paid between these dates was to be applied to retirement of principal. The balance of the debt could be paid off over a period of 10 years, without interest, on a graduated scale, beginning with small installments.

Moreover, on all debts contracted since July 1, 1932, the maximum interest collectable is 5 per cent. Anything paid above that applies to retirement of principal.

All this has provided a tremendous boon to farmers and others, many of whom are mortgaged up to the hilt as the result of hard times.

The legislature also decreed that municipalities shall not collect taxes to pay more than 3 per cent interest on their securities. On April 1, the government defaulted on a bond payment of $3,200,000, but paid the interest.

Aberhart's strong arm methods of handling debts have inspired others to follow him.

Already the neighboring province of Saskatchewan, which with Alberta and Manitoba constitutes one of the world's greatest granaries, has announced a reduction of $75,000,000 in the tax, relief and interest debts of farmers in 158 drought-stricken areas. It is the Aberhart scheme with modifications to suit local conditions.

All Canada, from coast to coast,

Scrap Book Kept By Harry Ball Revealed Ideals

Owner Removing Fender Guides Taken for Thief

A. H. Reyes, Yorba Linda, wasn't taking any chances of having his fender guides stolen—but he almost got arrested for it.

Observing a man removing fender guides from a car at Fifth and Birch streets Saturday night, a neighboring businesswoman called police.

Officers "caught" Reyes right in the act, but he explained they were his fender guides, he was going on a shopping trip and didn't want to take any chances of having them stolen.

is watching Alberta's volcanic eruption with feverish interest and anxiety. The name of Aberhart is on every tongue from Vancouver to Quebec.

He has even got into the "knock, knock" game: "Knock, knock!" "Who's there?" "Aberhart." "Aberhart who?" "Aberhart and give us $25 a month."

The great province of Alberta, treasure-house of natural wealth, is seething. The masses who voted for Aberhart continue to worship at his feet, and drink in his Sunday radio sermons.

See Dictatorship
The premier's opponents assert that he is riding for a dictatorship. In support of this they point, among other things, to his recent heated statement that he would consider the question of "licensing" the press of Alberta.

The writer heard him make this threat, which contemplates bringing the newspapers under some measure of government control. The declaration was inspired by articles which Aberhart said were untrue and intended to cast discredit on the office of premier.

Keep Hands Off
The dominion government has made no move against Aberhart, despite the fact that it has sole power over interest rates on provincial bonds. The correspondent was told in well informed quarters of both Alberta and Ottawa that the government has adopted an attitude of hands-off and watchful waiting, for the time being at least.

It is stated that this is due to advice from political leaders who said the masses in Alberta are in such a state of ferment that interference with Aberhart might produce a revolution. To reports that he is ambitious to become prime minister of all Canada, Aberhart has given the denial.

But the skipper of the social credit ship continues to poke the nose of his craft out into uncharted waters, and holds doggedly to the course which he believes will lead to the harbor of Utopia.

Tomorrow: Aberhart, the man.

MORE ABOUT HIGH COURT

on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act. It refused today to pass on a case attacking it, after hearing a government contention that in this particular case the constitutionality of the statute was not involved. Six other appeals involving the act are on file at the court.

At the same time, however, the justices agreed to review an attack by the Virginia Railway company on the provisions of the railway labor act authorizing collective bargaining between representatives of employees and railroads.

Other Actions
In the more important appeals before it, the tribunal acted as follows:

It consented to review the government's effort to postpone action by lower tribunals in disputes involving constitutionality of the public utility holding company act until final decision of a case.

The New Deal was granted a review of its contention that a 50 per cent tax on silver profits made prior to passage of the silver purchase act was unconstitutional. The tribunal consented to review a ruling of the court of claims that the levy—intended by the government "to prevent tax evasion or profiteering at the public expense"—was unconstitutional because it took property without due process of law.

The court agreed to pass on a lower court ruling upholding the constitutionality of the 1935 Ashurst-Sumners act forbidding the transportation of prison-made goods into states that bar their sale and requiring that such products be labeled as convict-manufactured.

Mrs. Barnett Loses
Anna Laura Barnett, widow of the late Jackson Barnett, wealthy Creek Indian, lost in her protest against a decision by a ninth circuit court of appeals annulling the marriage and depriving her of property rights. A review of that ruling was refused by the high tribunal.

The Sierra Land and Water Company of California lost in its plea for a writ of mandamus to compel Secretary Ickes to grant four rights-of-way over the public domain for an irrigation project near Mono Lake, California. The tribunal refused to review a decision of the court of appeals for the District of Columbia denying the writ.

property owners lost in an effort to compel county officials to lower the 1933 valuation on their property for tax purposes. The tribunal refused to review a ruling by the California district court of appeals last March 19 upholding the county auditor and tax collector.

LIST POLLING PLACES FOR BOND VOTE

Appointment of election officials and selection of 12 consolidated polling places for the $811,000 school bond election Oct. 22 was announced today by the Santa Ana board of education.

The bond issue sought in the election is to cut, not raise, school costs. It is provided that the bonds shall draw interest of not more than 3.4 per cent, and school authorities believe they will be sold for about 2.4 per cent.

Funds from the bonds will be used to retire Greene bill loans used in earthquake school reconstruction here and now drawing 4.4 per cent. By cutting the interest rate on the obligation by two per cent, the bonds will effect a saving of $122,000 over a period of 20 years, it was estimated.

Polling Places Listed
Santa Ana High school district will vote on issuing $487,000 in bonds and the elementary district on $324,000 in bonds.

Following are the polling places and election officials:

No. 1, Edison school (Santa Ana precincts 11, 34, 35, 36, and the portion of the Santa Ana elementary school district which lies outside the city limits); Fred Schweitzer, inspector; Ester M. Corey and Ernest R. Adelman, judges.

No. 2, Franklin school (precincts 52, 53, and 54); Esther M. Belau, inspector; C. B. Buxton and P. S. Lucas, judges.

No. 3, Hoover school (precincts 12, 13, and 14); E. P. Stafford, inspector; Rena A. Crozier and Laura W. Dunlap, judges.

No. 4, Jefferson school (precincts 61, 69, 70, and 71); Charles D. Dessery, inspector; William G. Campbell and Andrew J. Smiley, judges.

No. 5, Lincoln school (precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19); Mrs. Estelle Dresser, inspector; Charles W. Davies and Mrs. Myrtle Sexton, judges.

No. 6, Lowell school (precincts 10, 37, 40, 41, 42, 43 and 44); A. M. Stauffer, inspector; Inez Iman and Josephine Farrar, judges.

MORE ABOUT DEATH TOLL

Salgado, Jessie Salgado, 3, and Robert Garcia, 3, were cut and bruised.

Driver Jailed
John A. Crosson, 40, El Toro CCC camp truck driver, was jailed on drunk driving charges Saturday after his car struck an automobile driven by Helen Luck, 938 Fairview street, at Third and Main streets.

Paul DeSoto, 22, 2527 South Main street, was also being held on drunk driving charges today, following his arrest Saturday afternoon at Third and Artesia streets.

Benito Cabrera, 32, El Modena, was booked on drunk charges pending an investigation into an accident at South Main and Amherst streets last night in which his car struck an auto driven by Coley Rumsower, 336 South Parton street.

Injured in the accident were Floyd Caudell, 336 South Parton street, who sustained a possible broken nose; Louise Salked, Costa Mesa, cuts and bruises, and Roberta Howell, route 1, Santa Ana, severe cuts.

Three Cars Crash
Henry Carmichael, 818 Hickory street, was taken to the county hospital for treatment at night after a crash at Fifth and French street involving three cars. Carmichael was a passenger in a car driven by Evelyn M. Coffman, 818 Hickory street, which collided with autos driven by Charles R. Baird, route 3, Santa Ana, and W. A. Paxton, 401 East Fifth street.

Mrs. R. Yoshida, Irvine ranch, was given first aid treatment at St. Joseph's hospital Saturday after a crash at Memory Lane and Bristol street in which a car driven by her husband collided with a car driven by Earl Rankin, 19, Garden Grove. She received cuts about the hands.

HUGE POSTAL JOBS 'GRAB' CHARGED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Republican national committee asserted today that Postmaster General Farley had discharged 510 postmasters who had worked their way up from the ranks.

The statement said President Roosevelt "ably seconded Farley's determination that no deserving Democrat who wanted a job in the postal service should go without one."

"When the New Deal took office," it added, "a large number of postmasters had been appointed in the preceding 12 years of Republican administration. Many were 'protective' order."

Executive order by President Roosevelt put the skids under these civil service "protected" postmasters whose jobs were needed for New Dealers.

Seek Mystery Man In Model's Death

WELMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—Detectives hunted a "mystery man" today in their search for solution of the slaying of blonde Gracey Asquith, 40-year-old widow and one-time photographer's model.

Investigation turned in that direction with a report from a Weymouth cab driver, Louis Pratt, who told Captain John F. Stokes, chief of the Massachusetts state police detectives, that he drove a thick-set, dark-complexioned man to the widow's lonely, lakeside cottage Sept. 21. That date was 48 hours after the night police have fixed as the time the widow was slain.

County Eighth in Voting Precincts
Only eight counties in the state have a larger number of voting precincts for the November election than Orange county. This was revealed today in a report by Secretary of State Frank Jordan, who listed 11,715 precincts for all of California.

Orange county has 245 precincts. Counties with more than this number of voting places are as follows: Alameda, 867; Fresno, 251; Los Angeles, 4251; Sacramento, 338; San Bernardino, 356; San Diego, 479; San Francisco, 1055 and Santa Clara, 266.

CHARGE GRAND THEFT
Arrested on a warrant from Santa Ana Justice court, F. J. Engel, 46, Anaheim, was in the county jail today awaiting hearing of grand theft charges against him. He was booked Saturday afternoon by sheriff's officers.

FEDERALS TRAIL ESCAPED HOODLUMS
INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—Donald F. Stiver, superintendent of Indiana state police, said today department of justice agents had joined a five-state search for three desperate hoodlums who escaped yesterday from the Hancock county jail at Greenfield, where they were awaiting trial for murder of an Indianapolis police sergeant.

LABOR PICKETED BY SEATTLE WOMEN
SEATTLE, (AP)—Union labor, engaged in picketing several Seattle businesses, found itself picketed today when a score of women started an unheralded line around the labor temple.

They carried flags and wore sardwich signs demanding the reopening of the strike-closed Post-Intelligencer. Hearst morning paper closed by American Newspaper Guild strike Aug. 13.

King Edward Hires French Chef to Rule in Palace

LONDON, (AP)—Down in the kitchens of Buckingham palace, King Edward's new French chef—M. Legros—bussed himself over the royal menu today.

Selected at the monarch's command by Sir George Clerk, British ambassador to Paris, Legros has earned the reputation of being one of the best cooks in France.

In his new position, however, the master of the palace kitchens will likely direct preparation of comparatively simple meals because of the king's conservative eating habits.

Simple Breakfast
For breakfast, Legros will be expected to send up toast and China tea with lemon—and perhaps occasionally bacon and eggs or an omelette.

More tea and an apple or two will make up the midday meal. Then there is more tea about 4:30 every afternoon.

For dinner, the ruler likes plain, "unsauces" foods, particularly steaks and grilled soles. When there are guests, King Edward generally orders a four-course dinner, served at 9 p. m. On the menu are mutton, grapefruit or hors d'oeuvres, a meat course, dessert and finally cheese. The king, like Queen Mary, does not care for soup, scarcely touches dessert, but is partial to new potatoes, new carrots and asparagus.

Rules Three Kitchens
Cooking on the grand scale belongs to the past of Buckingham palace except when state banquets are held. Catering for the royal courts and garden parties is now entrusted to outside contractors, although Legros will be in charge during next year's coronation festivities.

Legros' supervision extends over the three royal kitchens—one for meats, another for vegetables and a third for desserts.

His immediate predecessor, Poupard, had been appointed only a few weeks before King George's death. Henri Cedard, who had been royal chef since 1902, died three months before the present ruler's father.

Files Suits
Binnie Barnes, British film star, who has filed suit in Hollywood for a divorce from Samuel Joseph, London book publisher and art dealer. She charges cruelty and desertion. They were married in 1931.

BAN ON MEN TO WIN WEALTH

LONDON, (AP)—The two Baxter sisters of Harrogate, both in their seventies, will get $600 a month if men will keep away from their door.

Their brother, William Henry Baxter, died at the age of 86, leaving an estate of more than $1,250,000. He left them the monthly allowance on condition they do not allow any male person to reside in the house.

The sisters are Georgina Todd Baxter, 75, and Lily Thorman Baxter, 76.

U.S. AROUND THE CORNER SAYS F.D.R.

President in Denver Talk Gives Pledge for More Action

DENVER, (AP)—President Roosevelt stood in the heart of the great Rockies today and coupled a declaration that "We are around the corner" with a statement that America's monetary system "is the safest in the world today."

He asserted, too, government relief and other costs were coming down with an increase in private employment and pledged the New Deal to "more action, sound action . . . to save the constitutional representative form of government in which we rejoice."

Facing a great crowd on the west terrace of the state capitol, the chief executive addressed his first far-west campaign speech to citizens of the great metal mining regions. The radio carried his words across the nation.

Lauds Beet Growers
Declaring local citizens suggested work projects approved in Washington, he said it was a "pitiful spectacle to see Republican leaders call this great program waste and extravagance—for they are the same leaders who, when their own state or city or county was involved, were the first to run to Washington pleading for federal aid."

After asserting water conservation was a part of the administration's program and that the stock raising industry must be preserved, the President told of the New Deal's sugar control efforts and congratulated sugar beet growers on their "substantial reduction in the employment of hired children in the fields."

He spoke also of mining revival after the administration had "laid the ghost of the old gold party of the dollar" and when it purchased gold and silver.

"Monetary System Sound"

"The great bullion reserves now in the United States treasury," he said, "are sufficient to redeem every dollar of our currency far more than 100 per cent, and yet people for partisan purposes are willing to spread the gospel of fear that our currency is not on a sound foundation."

"I tell you, and you know, that our monetary system is the soundest in the world today."

Turning to recovery, he asserted: "I tell you, and you will agree, that we are around the corner. Private employment is picking up. That means that government expenditures for work for the unemployed are coming down. That means that the total of government expenditures will decline."

"Income Going Up"

"Turning the corner also means that government income from existing taxes, without new taxes, is going up.
"I repeat to you what I said in Pittsburgh a week and a half ago, that decrease in expenditures and increase in income mean, within a year or two, a balanced budget and the beginning of reduction in the national debt."

The President reserved his reference to the constitution for his final two sentences:
"We have shown our determination in the past by action. You can trust us to prove that determination in the future by more action, sound action, action that is saving and will continue to save the constitutional representative form of government in which we rejoice."

Comments on Columbus

The President led up to his discussion of government spending by calling attention that this was Columbus day.
He said there were those who felt the cost of Columbus' great voyage was too high, and others who "offered him the counsel of despair."
"But the valiant admiral, firm to his purpose, sailed on," he said. "And all America pays him tribute today."

CAFE MAN JAILED

George Edwards, 40, Los Angeles, manager of a Seventeenth street cafe, was in the county jail today, awaiting trial on petty theft charges arising out of assertedly bad checks. He was held under $500 bail after arrest by sheriff's officers.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This is a non-political, non-partisan column, dealing in Townsend news and views, and written by a prominent Townsend leader. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Another Orange county Townsend mass meeting widely attended from over the county was held in Santa Ana today.

Santa Ana Townsend hall Saturday night. The meeting was preceded by a chicken dinner, served by the ladies of Santa Ana club No. 3, which was a real success, as more than 200 persons were served. The Hillbillies orchestra gave real life to the occasion by an hour's concert.

At 7:30 p. m., after the dinner things had been cleared away, J. H. Walsh, district organizer, called the audience to order, and in true Townsend fashion the meeting was opened by the singing of "America," the pledge to the flag, and by an invocation pronounced by Rev. R. F. Russell. Mrs. F. A. Parsons of East Barnard street, Costa Mesa, member of Townsend club No. 1 of that city, was introduced as the leader of community singing.

With Mrs. Carrie J. Drake of Yorba Linda as accompanist, Mrs. Parsons led the audience in the singing of songs now commonly used in these campaign rallies.

A favorite song just now in Townsend circles is "Townsend Will Shine Tonight." The words are changed around to fit the names of various candidates who are being boosted during the evening rally. Another song which is a favorite with Townsend audiences is one that is built around the incident of the doctor walking out on the Townsend investigating committee. Dr. Westover still prevails the hearts of Townsendites because of the treatment Dr. Townsend received at the hands of the "inquisition committee," as the Townsendites have nicknamed it.

The first speaker to be introduced was Steele Finley, candidate for supervisor from the first district, and Harry C. Westover, who was the next speaker. He criticized the present old age pension law of the state, and made the prophecy that the next session of the state legislature would amend the law to the effect that only the matters of age and point of residence in the state would be necessary qualifications for eligibility.

William Haupt, 18-year-old Townsend speaker, was then presented. For the next 40 minutes he elaborated upon the problems of the unemployed youth of the nation, and the Townsend plan as a remedy for their troubles. He is a student of law in Occidental college, and is in his sophomore year.

He gave statistics concerning crime committed by youths, and of the number unemployed. He said that among the unemployed of the nation, which numbers over 12,000,000, 5,000,000 are between the ages of 19 and 24. His 12-year-old sister, Margaret, accompanied him.

The writer can't conclude this column without speaking about the pot-luck dinner being served by the ladies of Santa Ana Townsend club No. 10 in the basement of the Free Methodist church, Fruit and Minter streets, between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30 tonight. Bring your table service, advises Mrs. Etta Goslee, member of arrangements committee. The writer has said enough about pot-luck dinners before, so you folks know what to do.

Townsend club No. 5 is putting on an eating event in the social hall of the Richmond M. E. church, South Parton and Richland avenue. They will serve ice cream, cake and coffee from 6 to 7:30 tomorrow evening. If you can manage to get 15 cents together, you will be able to indulge in the festivities of the occasion. The Hurd Lentz orchestra will furnish music. At 7:30, in the church auditorium, the club meeting will be held, with Harry C. Westover as the speaker.

POLICE REPORTS

The following information was taken from today's reports on file at the Santa Ana police department:

E. E. Enders, 916 South Parton street, found that some fish he was smoking got a little too much smoked yesterday morning. His smokehouse caught on fire. City firemen extinguished the blaze.

D. H. Hassett, 610 South Main street, also had a visit from firemen Saturday afternoon, when a water heater in his home started a small fire.

A photograph reported stolen from the home of L. R. Eckley, 302 South Garnsey street, Sept. 20, was found to be in good hands yesterday when Eckley discovered his brother had borrowed it.

Assertedly trying to "pick a fight" with employees in the Southern California Edison company office, James Rosendahl, 48, Anaheim, was arrested on battery charges Saturday and held under $500 bail pending trial in city court tomorrow. He was arrested by D. C. Dunbar, Edison company special officer.

URGENT NO VOTE ON STORE TAX

The special chain store tax, appearing on the November ballot as a "retail store license," is merely a masked attempt to raise the cost of living, according to Frederic A. Chase of the public relations department of California Chain Stores association, a visitor in Santa Ana today.

"Sponsors of the tax," Chase said, "have tried to make it appear that chain stores could afford to pay a $500 a year handicap in order to boost their smaller competitors. The fact is that the California chains, most of which are owned right here at home, operate on such a narrow profit margin that they would simply have to increase prices to pay such a tax."

"Chains don't buy from middlemen. They buy direct from the farmer and the manufacturer. That's how they save the consumer money."

Chase pointed out further that California chain stores provide a form of distribution to California farm products that, if destroyed, would take years to rebuild.

"If chain stores are wiped out," he said, "the cost of living will go up, stores will be emptied, rentals will be lost, employees will be thrown out of work, and California's excellent distributing system will be irreparably damaged."

Marie Grady Wins Coiffure Honor

Marie Grady, owner of the Marie Grady Beauty and Cosmetic salon in the First National bank building, was awarded a silver medal and certificate Sunday at the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, for her hair dressing creation, known as the Elinor hair style. The high honor was given by the Los Angeles Coiffure Guild.

Awards were based on adaptability and originality of the hair dress. Forty minutes were allowed to complete the creations. Some of the leading stylists of this coast completed. The guild show, which started Sunday, will end Tuesday night with a banquet at the hotel.

Baby Lost After 16 Hour Battle

A 16-hour battle by the Orange fire department pulmotor squad to prolong the life of a tiny baby born Saturday at St. Joseph's hospital failed yesterday afternoon.

The baby was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Day, 916 1/2 Acacia street, Huntington Beach. The pulmotor squad battled from 9 p. m. Saturday to 1 p. m. Sunday in effort to save his life.

Announcement of funeral services will be made by the Smith and Tutthill mortuary, Santa Ana.

Hold Open House Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morrison, whose fiftieth wedding anniversary is an event of this week, extend a general invitation to all their friends to call tomorrow between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock at their home at 116 South Birch street, when they will be holding an open house.

PANGLE RECEIVES $650

Hal Pangle, who migrated from Santa Ana High to Oregon State, to the Chicago Cardinals, plans to play five years of professional football, and then hang up his grid togethery for a coaching career. He is now in his second season in the National Pro league.

H. A. Pangle of Costa Mesa, his father, tells me Hal is netting $650 per month for four months' quarterbacking with the Cards.

Before he can embark on a coaching career, Pangle must complete six months of study, missed when he went on a football-playing tour of Japan last fall. Injuries received in an automobile crash after returning here, however, interrupted his college schedule.

Pangle will be back in town Christmas.

HARRIS DISAPPOINTING

Merle Harris, swivel-hipped blond who was a "Pat" Grange at Riverside High school and Junior college, played in hard luck in the Coliseum Saturday.

The first time Harris carried the ball he was thrown for a five-yard loss. That was bad enough for the Bruins, but on the next play from U. C. L. A.'s 10-yard line he fumbled, and Washington made a quick recovery that paved the way for the Huskies' second touchdown.

"Fine. That will take some of the conceit out of the guy," said a voice near the press box. "Twas an undeserved remark, because Merle NEVER developed a 'swell head' at Riverside—and he was showered with glory during two prep and jaycee years."

REMATCH POLEE, L'MON

Odell Polee, the tall bundle of black animation from Los Angeles, wants—and will receive—another crack at Fullerton's Lupe LeMon in the Highway 101 ring Thursday night.

Floored twice by overhead blows from the Caveman's trusty right last week, the negro nevertheless put up a game fight which the O. C. boss, Bob Singleton, figured warranted a rematch this week.

The chocolate clouter is a carbon copy in looks and physical equipment for Harry Wills, the old black "menace," and boxes something like the big fellow, too. He used a straight left with telling effect on LeMon, but the Fullertonian was rugged enough to shake it off. Maxie Moore, Ray Vargas, Jim Merced and Raoul Solis also have been signed for Thursday's card.

PRETTY FAIR PICKIN'

Column Left did right well in week-end prognosticating. We predicted Santa Ana J. C. would win by 6 points. The Dons won by 7. We said San Diego H. S. would win by 13. The Hillers did. We thought U. S. C. would win by 13. The Trojans won by 18. But Washington made a monkey out of us on that one with U. C. L. A.

LIONS FAVORED WINNERS

CHICAGO. (AP)—The Detroit Lions posted notice today that it will take more than an ordinary eleven to relieve them of their national professional football championship.

Winner of their opening game two weeks ago with the Chicago Cardinals by an impressive score, the Lions routed Philadelphia, 23 to 0, yesterday, in another convincing display of power, speed and alertness.

Sammy Saint, smarting under a 19-6 jolting from San Diego's Hillers, in his Coast league debut, began concentrating today on a skirmish with Chaffey at Ontario Friday that will prepare him for a second stand with Long Beach Poly here Oct. 24.

Santa Ana Junior college, elated over a 7-0 defeat of Citrus, also plays an Ontario eleven—Chaffey's Panthers—in an Eastern conference game at the Municipal bowl Friday night.

Before a fair-sized crowd in the border city's spacious stadium Saturday afternoon, Santa Ana High's football machine backfired against San Diego's cleverly-executed reverses, which had the Saint ends dizzy trying to check the Hiller backs.

Lo on a rd Stafford, backfield standstill for W. W. (Bill) Foot's home guard, saved the Saints from a white-washing in the final minute of action with a 13-yard dash over right tackle for a touchdown. It started off a run on second down with Saint receivers covered.

A low pass from center muffed Santa Ana's attempted conversion. Lyle Moyer, regular right guard, and two reserve tackles—Mark Stewart and Vernon Carney—stood up better than perhaps any of the others in the Saint forward wall that took a terrific pounding from the Hillers, who lived up to their rating as co-favorites with Long Beach Poly's defending champions who smothered San Diego Hoover, 27-0, Friday night. Wilson of Long Beach routed Alhambra, 15-0, in an upset Saturday.

Salvador Mena, 17-0, pound halfback transfer from El Centro, intercepted a pass play from Santa Ana's 41 and rambled to the Saint 13 to pave the way for San Diego's first touchdown in the second quarter. Angilus, second-string back, picked up two yards around left end, and another reserve, Savage, passed over the head of Stafford for the score. The conversion punt was missed.

Savage passed to Rudrauff, receiver end, for 16 yards and a second touchdown in the third period after a drive from Santa Ana's 29. The Hillers penetrated deep into Saint territory as the result of Gatewood's brilliant punt to the 2-yard line, and the return of Al Patterson's immediate punt to the 35.

Savage also was the hero for San Diego's third touchdown, which added insult to injury when the Hiller back caught Aq Patterson's punt on San Diego's 20, and weaved through the entire Saint eleven 80 yards to the goal. The conversion was good, and the Hillers went into a 19-0 lead that was not diminished until Stafford's brilliant work in the waning seconds of play.

Santa Ana held the edge in first downs, 7 to 3, but this advantage was hidden by San Diego's "breaks." The Hillers were lucky in everything except penalties. They were penalized so heavily their rosters began yelling, "We want a penalty, we want a penalty."

Miniature Football

Arkansas High Schools to Play 6-Man 'Elevens'

Here's the whole Marion (Ark.) high school team in battle formation.

By DON WHITEHEAD

MARION, Ark. (AP)—Miniature football. . . . Table tennis. . . . And now miniature football.

Through necessity, five small east Arkansas schools will present football this season played by six-man teams on under-sized grids.

It's an innovation the coaches believe will click with the fans. Students and townspeople wanted football, but the combined grade and high schools had an average attendance each of only about 200 students. Squads reporting for practice in previous years numbered between 12 and 20 players. Reserves were few.

Under such conditions, it was highly problematical from one week-end to the next whether there would be a team on the field at all.

So the football coaches at Crawfordville, Marion, Earl, Tynona and Lapanto got together and evolved a scheme to play the game with only six men on a side—three in the line and three in the backfield.

"It was the only way we could have football at all," says L. H. Polk, Marion coach. "I have only 14 men out for the team, and it would be impossible to put an 11-man team on the field throughout the entire season."

"This idea gives us a chance to teach the boys the fundamentals of football and at the same time have a wide open, fast game that should give the spectators plenty of action and thrills."

The fields will be 80x45 yards instead of the regulation 100x33 yards. The scoring system will be the same, but a team will be required to make 15 yards in four tries for a first down instead of 10 yards as in regulation football.

Backfield men on offense and defense must be three yards behind the line of scrimmage before the ball is snapped.

"We may have to change the rules slightly after we have played several games," Polk explains. "It is more or less an experiment, but I believe it's here to stay."

Polk, after several days of drilling his small squad, is still puzzled over building a defense.

"It will be an open game," he points out, "and there will be less of the type of body blocking seen in the regular games. The will eliminate the danger of injuries almost entirely, with no piling up on line plays."

"It's hard to stop the offense with only three men in the line. There'll be plenty of touchdowns."

GAELS HUMBLE LOYOLA, 19-7

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—St. Mary's Gaels, striking fast and furiously for 15 minutes, downed Loyola university's stubborn Lions, 19 to 7, here Sunday before 50,000 spectators in Memorial coliseum.

Edward P. (Slip) Madigan's Morgans, pointing toward their inter-sectional game with Fordham in New York Oct. 24, chased over three touchdowns in the second quarter and coasted, scoreless, from then on.

Loyola offered a stronger battle than expected, and scored in the final period with a flashy running and passing game that swept the St. Mary's varsity off its feet.

Loyola presented St. Mary's with the first score, fumbling three times in five minutes to help the Gaels go from their own 3-yard line to the Loyola 8, where Les Groux crashed over for the tally.

run beat Nebraska.

FRITZ WASKOWITZ, Washington.—Tossed three passes to produce the Huskies' two scores against U. C. L. A.

DAVID DAVIS, Southern California.—Threw two touchdowns passes and led running attack against Illinois.

TROJAN-COUGAR, BRUIN-CAL GAMES SLATED SATURDAY

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Football's main scrambles this week-end will find the four undefeated members of the Pacific Coast conference risking their championship standings, three of them participants in tough games.

The engagements, part of the round robin series which will determine the 1936 title, match Southern California with Washington State college, the University of California Bears with the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, and Washington with Oregon State.

Powerful Washington, conqueror of U. C. L. A. by a 14 to 0 count last Saturday, draws the easier of the assignments. It will be an overwhelming favorite to down Oregon State, defeated 7 to 0 last week by the Bears.

Southern California returns from its 24 to 6 inter-sectional triumph over Illinois, to find waiting a Washington State eleven which won 14 to 0 from Idaho Saturday and has a clear record in the conference championship fight through a 14 to 13 setback of Stanford two weeks ago.

U.S. DOMINATES BRUINS REMAIN IN GOOD SHAPE

NEW YORK. (AP)—England's Fred Perry and California's Helen Hull Jacobs are of the world's greatest tennis players of 1936 in their respective divisions. This is the judgment of A. Wallis Myers, British authority who annually lists the world's "first 10" of the net game.

Three other American women and three men are rated among the first 10 of the world. Don Budge, red-headed Oakland star, moved up from sixth place to third in the men's ranking, following Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., fourth a year ago, was given seventh place and Bryan (Bitty) Grant of Atlanta, appearing the select group for the first time, was ranked eighth.

Miss Jacobs succeeded Mrs. Helen Wills Moody as women's ruler on the strength of her successful bid for the Wimbledon title. Alice Marble of Los Angeles, No. 4; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fry of Brookline, Mass., No. 9 and Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, No. 10, were the other American women ranked.

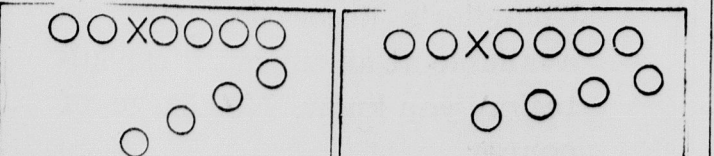

The complete ranking: Perry, Von Cramm, Budge, Adrian Quist, Australia; Bunny Austin, England; Jack Crawford, Australia; Allison, Grant, Heiner Henkel, Germany; Vivian McGrath, Australia.

Women: Miss Jacobs, Frau Sperling, Dorothy Round, England; Miss Marble, Simone Mathieu, France; Jadwiga Jedzejowska, Poland; Katherine Stammers, England; Senorita Iznaga; Mrs. Fabyan and Miss Babcock.

WINGBACKS

by TINY THORNHILL

Wingback formations, which are the basis for virtually all of Stanford's offensive plays, trace their origin to the days of the Carlisle Indians in the early 1900's. Glenn Scobey Warner, a young coach with a lot of revolutionary ideas, came out one season with the Carlisle tandem.

It not only surprised rival coaches but it virtually junked the old T formation, in which the backs lined up behind a balanced line standing shoulder-to-shoulder behind a balanced line standing behind the quarterback.

Warner's tandem operated behind an unbalanced line, forming an acute angle with the close-up back directly behind the right end. This tandem was the granddaddy of the single wingback.

Later on it was modified so that the close-up back flanked the right end. The other three backs were moved up closer to the line of scrimmage but each was stationed a bit deeper than the other.

U. S. FOOTBALL RACES STILL WIDE OPEN

Pittsburgh, Fordham, Yale And Army Now Lead On Eastern Grid

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK. (AP)—Three weeks of preliminary sparring had served today to separate some of the football chaff from the wheat, but the sectional championship races still were wide open with no definite evidence pointing to the ultimate outcome in any one of them.

Further light on the situation will be shed this week in an imposing array of big-time games but the chances are that it will be late November before the polls can safely be closed.

Looking toward the next gathering of the football clans here's how the ever-shifting picture appeared today:

Three Eastern Leaders

EAST: The leaders, for the moment at least, were Pittsburgh, Fordham, Army and Yale, with Navy, Holy Cross, Duquesne, Temple, Villanova, Princeton and Manhattan very much to be reckoned with.

Pitt, which ruined Ohio State's national championship aspirations with a 6-0 victory before 71,000 at Columbus on Harold Stebbins' 34-yard sprint to a fourth period touchdown, cannot afford a let-down this week against Duquesne, even though Notre Dame and Fordham are in the immediate offing.

Army, piloted to a sensational 27-16 victory over Columbia by Monk Meyer's talented passing arm, tackles Harvard, 28-0, conqueror of luckless Brown. Navy, which hung up a 35-14 triumph over Virginia, may find tough going against Yale's Bulldogs, who tripped Penn's powerhouse, 7-0.

Victor over Dartmouth, 7-0, Holy Cross will be tested again by Manhattan. Temple plays Boston College today and Carnegie Tech Friday night, while Villanova, which stopped Penn State, 13-0, tackles Western Maryland.

Princeton vs. Penn. Princeton, unimpressive in handling a 20-0 beating to Rutgers, will need to do better against Penn. Fordham, 7-0 victor over Southern Methodist, on Johnny Lock's 75-yard run, eases off against Waynesburg. Dartmouth plays Brown.

Other leading pairings will send Cornell against Syracuse, Colgate against Tulane, Columbia against Virginia Military, New York university against North Carolina, and George Washington against Arkansas.

MIDWEST: Northwestern, Purdue and Indiana are the current Big Ten leaders with Minnesota and Ohio State ready to take a hand in the conference chase.

Minnesota, which scored its 19th consecutive victory when Andy Uram ran 75 yards to a touchdown with only 48 seconds to play, for a 7-0 triumph over Nebraska, meets Michigan, beaten 14-3 by Indiana. Purdue's high-scoring array, which ran up a 35-14 count on Wisconsin, plays Chicago, checked by a 6-6 draw with Butler.

Ohio State opens its conference drive against formidable Northwestern while Iowa plays Illinois, routed 24-7 by Southern California, in the remaining conference engagements.

Indiana vs. Nebraska

Indiana must play Nebraska, while Wisconsin finds Notre Dame, hard pressed to turn back Washington university, 14-6, next on the list.

SOUTHWEST: Texas A. and M., 3-0 victor over Rice, is matched with Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, who had come from far behind to nip Tulsa, 10-7. Texas plays Baylor, nosed out by Arkansas, 14-10.

Southern Methodist tackles Vanderbilt, victim of Saturday's most amazing upset, a 12-0 beating from little Southwestern of Memphis.

Oregon, which tied Stanford, 7-7, meets Idaho.

SOUTH: Georgia Tech, Alabama, Auburn, and Louisiana State look strongest in the Southeastern conference and Duke and North Carolina in the Southern.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN: Denver, Utah, Utah State, and Brigham Young are the leaders with Denver and Utah squaring off in one game this week while Utah State plays Brigham Young.

JACOBS, MOODY CLASH TODAY

BERKELEY. (AP)—Helen Wills Moody and Helen Jacobs, the two old rivals of tennis, finish an interrupted doubles match with men partners here today.

The contest for the Pacific Coast mixed doubles championship—Mrs. Moody being teamed with Donald Budge and Miss Jacobs with Henry Culley—ran into darkness yesterday.

Miss Jacobs and Culley, who hail from Santa Barbara, won the first set 7-5. Mrs. Moody and her red-haired Oakland partner came back, with a thrilling exhibition that kept spectators on edge, to take the second set 10-8.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK. (AP)—Well, Ohio State can start getting ready for next year. . . . Nice going out there Saturday, Dr. Sutherland. . . . If Monk Meyer of Army isn't headed for All-America honors you can sue us. . . . Did Georgia Tech pour it to Kentucky? . . . Philly scribes, passing through from New Haven, say Harvey Harnan is going out at Penn, win, lose, or draw. . . .

What did we tell you about Baldwin-Wallace? . . . Watch for this week's red hot special in Friday's column. . . .

That Manhattan game has put Hunk Anderson on the hot spot at North Carolina State. . . . Old timers say they never saw so many passes tossed in one game as Southern Methodist fired at Fordham—49. . . . The air was black with 'em. . . . Lou Little will not admit it, but Columbia showed him so much Saturday he expects to win from Michigan.

Meyer got the publicity, but Coach Gar Davidson is thanking his reserves for trimming Columbia. . . . Hunk Anderson says the Notre Dame system is out-moded. . . . It's so much everyone knows just where to line up for even though Bobby Wilson, who ran wild for Southern Methodist last year, sat on the Mustang bench Saturday. . . . Bobby now plays with the Brooklyn pro Dodgers. . . . He was headed for West Point, but something happened. . . . Best Minnesota could do against Nebraska was seven points in the last quarter. . . . No wonder Bernie Bierman's gray hair is grayer.

Odds and ends: Jorge Brescia no more than recovered consciousness than he began hollering for another bout with Joe Louis. . . . Best laugh of the week was the Brooklyn club's announcement it will spend $100,000 for new players. . . . Some of the Giants, interviewed on their return home, say the Yankee batting order was made up of nine Joe Louises. . . . No matter who the new Brooklyn manager is, he'll only get a one year contract. . . . If you want to know how to win a football game with only one first down ask Jimmy Crowley of Fordham. . . . He'll probably tell you to unlock lock. . . . What is the big Joe Cronin announcement expected from Beantown any minute now?

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By L. N. (BRICK) GAINES

I'D LIKE to see Pepito, internationally famous clown, for making my stomach ache. Not because of the recipe he gave me for cooking lobsters, either. He made me laugh too much!

Pepito occasionally goes off somewhere on a clowning expedition, and just returned to Balboa from such a trip, through Canada and Washington. He was glad to be home, and showed it.

But to get back to the stomach ache—It's really my own fault, I guess. Pepito can send me into gales of laughter by remarking that it's nice weather. And when he told a simple story of trying to buy a car—well, convulsions were only half of what I went into before he finished.

It seems that he wanted a nice, long truck to carry his theatrical equipment. His wife wasn't absolutely sold on the idea of buying a truck, but finally consented to a ride in one—this, incidentally, happened in Washington.

Well, we went on a ride in that truck with Pepito and his wife and a salesman. We swayed around corners, joggled over bumps and bounced up and down and banged the sides of the cab until everyone listening was hysterical.

And then the engine of the truck froze, and we walked along, weary miles back to a telephone with Pepito, where a broadcasting engagement was waiting. I even laughed then!

And then we went through agonies of indecision between the big truck and a smaller one, that "looked like a horse." And finally bought the latter—and everyone listening was laughing every minute of the time.

According to rates charged in theaters, I got at least $45 worth of entertainment Saturday afternoon!

All foolishness aside, however, Balboa should be proud of having such a famous personage as a resident. Pepito doesn't say much about it, but he's the most famous clown in the world. He's known everywhere as the top man in his business—but I'd be afraid to see him on the stage. I've a picture of uniformed attendants escorting me, gibbering and biting my fingernails, in the last stages of hysterics, from the theater!

Pepito—officially Pepito Escobar, lives on his boat in Newport harbor. He's a bona-fide resident of the county. He admits the reason he lives here is because of the swordfishing—and he hasn't caught a swordfish for the past two years! One'd never imagine that Pepito is famous to talk to him. He seems to be merely a very fine gentleman—until he turns on the heat, and then try not to laugh! He likes to work around his boat and go fishing and sit around and talk, just like any other human being.

But I think Balboa officials should see to it that he catches a swordfish or two pretty soon. He might move away!

If he moved away, such famous folks as Leo Carrillo, stage and screen actor, probably wouldn't come back to Balboa either. Lots of 'em come down to call on their good friend, Pepito. With a little urging, I'll start a society for importing bigger and better swordfish, or something.

I'd like to cast a fragrant flower in the bouquet of Harbormaster Tommy Bouchey for fixing up an interview with Pepito. Yes, and 'nother one for Mrs. Tommy.

I think the biggest favor I can do for the harbormaster is to buy a boat—big and speed down the bay. Then, when he arrests me, I won't argue and fight instead of accepting the ticket, and then he'll be happy!

Now let's discuss highway crossings. We've a couple of new ones in the county, and I'm mad at one of 'em.

It's that new viaduct business down at The Arches at Newport. I ran a story about the new highway bridge opened Wednesday. You know, nice big splurge about traffic roaring over the new crossing, and stuff like that. And, just to see how it felt to travel over the highway separation unit, I went down Thursday, and it was still closed! The builders had crossed me up, and didn't open it until Friday!

If they're not careful, I'll go back down and have the first wreck on their darned old bridge!

The other crossing is the grade separation at Buena Park. Highway goes right under the railroad, and you don't have to pull in your neck, or anything. Very lovely crossing, and will aid in flood control, as well as cutting down death toll at the famous Northam crossing, where before a driver couldn't see the trains and the trains couldn't see the driver. Residents dedicated the affair Saturday, with Supervisor LeRoy Lyon making the big speech, and then they had a parade and all sorts of celebration.

Incidentally, I thought Uncle Sam Meyer was the only resident of Newport from whom I could successfully borrow cigars. Two victims, now I hummed City Clerk Frank Rinehart for two of 'em the other day, and he didn't even win. He's going to suffer, later!

GROUP OPENS WAR ON TIDELAND DRILLING LEGISLATION

L. A. COUNTY WORKERS IN CAMPAIGN

Measure Threatens All Beaches of State, Group Charges

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Representing the first organized opposition to a proposed tideland drilling measure which will appear on the November ballot, members of the Shoreline Planning association today started a statewide campaign against the proposed drilling law, with many county organizations and residents contacted by the group.

Threatening destruction of the state's beaches if the legislation is approved by voters next month, and urging a thorough study of the bill before any action is taken, members of the association point out, in literature, possible results of passage of the bill.

Reasons Told

Charging that title of the bill will deceive voters, the association lists five reasons why the measure should be defeated:

1. "It is a measure sponsored by certain powerful oil interests to grab our beaches for oil drilling."

2. "The measure would permit drilling directly on beach sand, down to the mean high tide line."

3. "The measure will destroy the beauty of our beaches and ruin them for recreational purposes."

4. "It will revive town-land drilling and encourage beach wildcat promotion."

5. "Revenue to the state from wells drilled on the beaches is too small and income received is relatively unimportant."

Attack Measure

Branding the measure as a "cleverly disguised beach oil drilling measure," the association points out that one-seventh royalty offered the state should be at least twice as much, and that the estimated income of $2,000,000 would probably be one-half that amount, and would reduce taxes by less than one-half of 1 per cent.

A resolution adopted by the Los Angeles playground and recreation commission opposing the proposed legislation is also cited by the association.

With headquarters in Hermosa Beach, the association is said to be affiliated with chambers of commerce in West Los Angeles, Santa Monica, Venice, Manhattan Beach, Palos Verdes, Redondo Beach, Hermosa, Playa Del Rey and other civic organizations.

NEWPORT BEACH.—Ingenuous methods employed by "fire bugs" in setting fires were explained and demonstrated to members of the Newport Harbor Service club at its initial meeting by Fire Chief Frank Crocker. A hen, enticed along a board, caused a fire in the Legion hut as a special demonstration of the meeting. Fire Chief Crocker presented the hen act.

Few arson cases have been reported in the area in the past several years, he reported. The demonstration given was one of the ingenious methods used by arsonists, he told club members. Claws of the hen on the board established contact which set off waste and caused a fire through methods of an electrical current, Crocker said.

Mason Siler, vice president of the club, was chairman of the meeting. Siler, local theater manager, has arranged a series of "political meetings" for the next few sessions. Republicans and Democrats will have their innings at the meetings, but the parties will not be allowed to tangle in a public encounter at one meeting, Siler announced.

Chaney to Speak At Newport Forum

Affidavit Names President's Son

The Senate Munitions Committee made public what is said was an affidavit by Anthony H. G. Fokker (right), noted airplane manufacturer, stating that he had signed a contract in 1934 with Elliott Roosevelt (left), son of the President, to give the latter a commission of $500,000 to sell 50 military planes to Russia. Young Roosevelt said he had contracted with Fokker only to represent him in sale of commercial planes to private foreign corporations, had never personally received a dollar and that he had terminated it himself without trying to sell a plane. ## THE "WETS" AND "DRYS" AGAIN

(Placencia Courier)

Voters of California on Nov. 3 will be faced once more with the necessity of casting ballots on the ever present "wet" and "dry" issues, though for 1936 there are two amendments appearing in a manner different from that of the past. The ordinary voter will understand that if he votes "yes" on No. 3, the liquor control measure, it is only the present mess as mishandled by the State Board of Equalization, seeking a different setup in control. Out of sheer disgust most voters will put a "no" on the proposal.

Proposition No. 9, called the "local option" amendment, would write into the constitution the right of any group of residents, in any city, township or county, voting for local option, and "dry" territory. It is clearly expressed and if adopted will provide a way to keep liquor dealers from locating their places of business every place, as under present laws. The church and dryworkers expect to support the measure in large numbers.

FROGS VERSUS HORSES

(Yorba Linda Star)

Are frogs livestock? Is a frog farmer a livestock producer? Those questions puzzled officials of the division of market enforcement, state department of agriculture, as they undertook to settle a dispute between a San Francisco cafe man and a Yuba county frog rancher over non-payment for a shipment of cultivated frogs sent the cafe man by the frog grower.

It is all very confusing and somewhat distressing when you consider:

1. Horses are admittedly livestock and are entered in races. Therefore, frogs must be livestock, too, since they are entered in races and have paid off on many a horse stretch.

2. Frogs are not livestock because they do not belong to the mammal class and furthermore are neither fish nor fowl.

There is a distinct difference between a horse and a frog, moreover, which should not be overlooked and that is that frogs croak

LAGUNA BEACH.—More than 100 persons have enrolled for various courses of the adult education program conducted by the board of education, it was announced today by Paul Colburn, director of the work. Topping the list of attendance is a class in choral work for mixed voices conducted by John H. Ferguson, head of music department of the high school.

Another popular course is in painting, conducted by William A. Griffith, well known artist, whose class registers 35 members. The class conducted by Joseph Frenette, local attorney, in citizenship, has 20 students, and one in typing, supervised by Mrs. Dorothy White, registers 19. An enrollment of 15 is registered for the course in woodshop and cabinet making, in charge of John O. Findley.

Other courses offered at the night school conducted at the high school plant on Park avenue, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings, cover mechanical drawing and blue print reading, navigation, art metal work, home gardening and conversational Spanish.

EASTERN STAR FETES MEN

GARDEN GROVE.—Brothers' night was observed by members of Garden Grove chapter of the Order of Eastern Star Thursday evening in the Anaheim I. O. O. F. hall. With the worthy matron and patron, Mrs. Alice T. Smith and Carlisle J. Clark, presiding, initiatory degrees were conferred on Mrs. Elizabeth Collins.

Announcements were that the other chapter meeting for this month has been canceled, due to Grand chapter at that time, with new officers to be elected at the next meeting, Nov. 12, and that the Star club will meet Oct. 26 at the Fullerton home of Mrs. Clara Bryan.

An Italian supper was served by the men with C. J. Clark, Norman Bryan and J. A. Williams in charge.

HONOR PASTOR AT CEREMONY

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Memorial services were held yesterday at Christ Church By-the-Sea for the Rev. Kemp J. Winkler, pastor for the past year, who died suddenly last week and for whom rites were held in Los Angeles last Tuesday.

Dr. George Warner, Santa Ana Methodist pastor, was in charge of the ceremony.

Y.W.C.A. Group Has Election

ORANGE.—Members of the Young Women's division of the Y. W. C. A. held an organization meeting Sunday afternoon in the Franzen building, featured by election of officers and discussion of plans for the year's work. Miss Eldene Watson is president, Miss Mary Iriart, vice-president, Miss Beatrice Paine, secretary-treasurer and Miss Marie Bivens publicity chairman.

It was decided to hold meetings each week, with every other week a gym or swimming period, and the alternate meetings featured by a speaker and to be held in the Y. W. C. A. clubrooms. Others present were Mary Agnes Miller, Evelyn Bryant, Eileen Gates, Florence Rios and Helen Patrick. Mrs. R. C. Patton is acting advisor.

G. G. TEACHERS ARE HONORED

GARDEN GROVE.—A custom of many years was repeated Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Thomason invited members of the Hoover school faculty and other Garden Grove elementary school officials with their husbands and wives to a dinner party at their home on New Hope road.

The hostess, principal of the Hoover school, chose as honor guests for the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ralston, who were married during the summer. Other guests were Superintendent and Mrs. S. R. Fitz, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Emley, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyes Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Fulton, Mrs. Lillie Gossett, Mrs. Helen Granlich, Mrs. Luella Trimble, Mrs. Mary Moody, Anna Eckdahl, Opal Knox, Miriam Rich, Floyce Haas, Eunice Bragg and Walter Thomason.

JAPANESE WILL WELCOME TRIO

GARDEN GROVE.—Japanese residents of Orange county, members of the Orange County Citizens' League, will welcome home three of their members at a meeting scheduled in the Woman's club Oct. 16, it was announced today.

Three to be welcomed will include Hatsuami Yamada, Frank Takenaga and Hiyoshi Higashi, who were delegates to the fourth biennial national convention of Japanese-Americans at Seattle recently. Mrs. Rose Yoshida is in charge of general arrangements. The three delegates will give brief talks at the meeting.

Yamada will speak on social problems, Takenaga will discuss economic problems and Higashi will speak on political problems.

COUNTY COUPLE TAKE VOWS

ORANGE.—Miss Dortha Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, 222 West Culver street, was married to Kenneth Holliday, Santa Ana, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, at the Santa Ana wedding chapel. The bride was attended by Miss Nancy Lewis, her sister, and Harold Martin was best man. The Rev. Earl C. Bloss performed the ceremony.

COAST GROUP PLAY GOLF

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The Rio Hondo Golf course was to be host to members of the Orange County Coast association group to play golf today. Play was to start at 12:30 p. m. with a dinner following at 6 p. m. The tournament is the fifth of the annual series of 12 played by the coast group. Trophies are awarded to winners at each meeting with a group of grape trophies presented to the winners of the best nine out of 12 tournaments during the season.

Betrothal Told At Grove Party

GARDEN GROVE.—Announcement of the engagement of Miss Valoe Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delos Patterson of West First street to Clarence Applebury of Smeltzer, was made recently at a party given by her sister, Mrs. Kenneth McMillan of Silver Acres. The wedding date has not been set.

Orange Chamber Drive to Start

ORANGE.—All former members of the chamber of commerce will have not renewed their membership will be given an opportunity to do so Tuesday, following a breakfast given by the chamber to workers at the American Legion hall, it was announced today.

Five representatives from each incorporated in the city have been appointed to assist in the drive. V. D. Johnson, secretary, will preside, and give brief instructions to membership canvassers. It has been reported that more than one-half of the total membership of last year has renewed for the coming year.

ORANGE.—Members of the Worthwhile class of the Presbyterian church will celebrate the 44th wedding anniversary of two of its members Tuesday evening, when the class is entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Waller, the anniversary celebrants. All class members have been urged to be present.

SHAM DEBUTANTE

By SHARON WYNNE

When Gay Needham, whose home is a Western ranch, inherits a large sum of money, her mother takes her to New York to break into society. A contract is signed with Bernal Van Gordon, an agent, who arranges for Gay to supply the money, and the Stromeleys, social presiding, Rodney Sinclair, wealthy socialite, falls in love with Gay, but Van Gordon betrays her to encourage a certain Marvin Plome, threatening to expose her false position unless she does. When she defies Van Gordon, he and Plome and Irene hatch a plot. Meanwhile, Irene, for reasons of her own, has been leading Gay's brother Jack a merry chase. But the man she really wants is Rodney.

CHAPTER IX

The next day, Irene phoned the Needhams to invite herself out to Southampton again for a few days. Looking as sweet and meek as possible, she arrived early in the afternoon, ready to "make up her quarrel with Jack."

As soon as she was settled, she walked down the hall to his room, knocked softly, then opened the door. Jack, who had slept all morning, and so had not been told that she was coming, was startled.

"Where did you come from?" he said gruffly. Then, "Get out of here! I don't want to see you again!"

Tears filled dark, imploring eyes. "Jack, don't be angry—please, I'm sorry I was so nasty that last time. Look—I have brought you something..."

She fumbled in her purse, brought out a little box, opened it, and held out an expensive-looking wrist watch. Jack was too amazed to speak.

"My engagement present to you, Jack. Now you'll forgive me, won't you?" She clasped the watch about his wrist.

As Jack clasped her in his arms, he did not see the slow, sly smile on her face.

"I'm planning a house party at Strondale, only, though, on the other side of the island, over the weekend," Irene cooed. "We'll announce our engagement then. There'll be Rod and Gay, Marvin Plome and Beth Allen—you've met her—and some others from New York."

On the afternoon they were to leave for Strondale, Gay and Jack and Irene were just getting into the car when Irene received a telephone call.

"It was some of the bunch from New York," she said as she rejoined Jack and Gay. They're not sure of their directions. I'll have to wait for them. You and Gay go on, Jack."

"We'll all wait," Jack replied.

SCHOOL WINS PRIZES AT S.D. FAIR

PLACENCIA.—Members of the Valencia chapter of Future Farmers of America, agriculture students here, won more than $140 in prizes at the San Diego county fair at Del Mar, Howard Hawkins, instructor, announced today.

An exhibit entered by the local students was rated fourth in sweepstakes judging, and many individual prizes brought an imposing list of awards to the local high school. Entries consisted mainly of hogs, cattle and poultry. Valencia students also won many awards at the tri-county fair which closed recently at Pomona.

LAGUNA FORUM TOPIC TOLD

LAGUNA BEACH.—"Shall We Save or Spend?"—An American Dilemma, is the subject of an address to be delivered here this evening at the Laguna forum, auditorium by Homer C. Chaney, director of Orange county forums, it was announced today by the local committee in charge of arrangements.

Included among forum addresses to be delivered here soon is a lecture by Cecil Eden Quinton, well known educator, who for the last 10 years has been associated with the University of Washington and its extension service.

Among topics he will present to the forum groups are "Japan, Russia and the United States—When?" "Economic Recovery in Great Britain?" "Modern Theories in the State of Politics," and "Post-War Diplomacy."

NORTON HEADS REPUBLICANS

LAGUNA BEACH.—Brayton S. Norton, former postmaster, was elected president of the Laguna Beach Republican club at an organization meeting Friday evening at the chamber of commerce offices.

Mrs. Henry Gordon Martin was named vice president and William A. Griffith secretary. Howard G. Heisler will act as treasurer of the organization.

SHAM DEBUTANTE

By SHARON WYNNE

"No," said Irene. "I planned to get the groceries and get the fires started before the others arrived. You two go ahead and get that done. Stop at Starr's grocery in that little town before you get to the lodge. You know, Jack. Here's the list of things."

She waved to them until a turn in the road took the car out of sight and then went inside, smiling triumphantly.

When Jack and Gay reached Starr's grocery, the friendly old proprietor said to Jack:

"You're Jack Needham, ain't you? You're to call Miss Stromeley at Southampton."

Jack put in the call. Irene's voice came over the wire.

"Jack, dear, I'm stranded. That walked down the hall to his room, again. Decided not to come this way, after all. You'll have to come back for me."

"We'll start back right away," Jack said.

"Gay needn't come back," said Irene. "I telephoned the lodge and discovered that Marvin and Beth are already there. They'll pick Gay up at the store. You come back for me."

Jack explained the situation to Gay, then departed.

It was almost dusk before Marvin's roaster finally drove up to the store.

"Where's Beth Allen?" asked Gay.

"She's waiting at the lodge," Gay was silent during the fifteen-minute drive to the lodge. She wished that Beth Allen had come with Marvin. She didn't like being alone with him.

"Well, here we are," he said, as they drove up to the back porch of Strondale.

He helped Gay out, then took a key from his pocket, and unlocked the door. The place was dark and silent. Not a sign of life.

Suddenly, Gay realized—knew exactly what Irene had done! It was all a frame-up! Beth Allen was not here. And that telephone call from "the New York crowd!" A fake. There wasn't any house party. It was just a scheme concocted by Irene and Marvin—and probably Van Gordon—to trap her here with Marvin. And Irene would see to it that she and Jack did not get here until morning.

Panic seized Gay. What could she do? The village was ten miles away. She sank down on a chair and began to cry.

Marvin watched her a moment uncertainly. "Come, come!" he finally said. "There's nothing to cry about. . . . There's no harm

FIRE MANIAC STORY TOLD ON KVOE

Calling All Cars Program
Will Provide Lesson
In Psychology

More than mere entertainment will be had by listening to tonight's actual dramatization of "Calling All Cars" on KVOE at 7:30, as it will comprise an interesting study in psychology.

As an aftermath of fire prevention week, tonight's broadcast will reenact the strange case of Frederick Price, pyromaniac, who was responsible for numerous school fires.

"I am the son of Moloch, the fire god! He commanded me to do what I did as homage to him." With these strange words, Price sought to explain his fantastic criminal career.

How we were finally captured is interesting in the extreme.

Maestro Dave Rubinoff and his $100,000 Stradivarius will coordinate in tonight's "Musical Moments" presentation on KVOE at 7 o'clock to play "The Star Is Weak" as Rubinoff's featured violin solo, and Virginia Rao, lovely-voiced soprano, will sing "Last Night the Nightingale."

Orchestral tunes, directed by Rubinoff, will include "Knock-Knock" and "Cross Patch," and an unusual announcement will be made by Graham McNamee.

Where Once a Mighty Fortress Stood

In this shambles that was once the magnificent palace-stronghold, the Alcazar, at Toledo, Spain, rebel men, women and children held out against loyalist onslaughts for more than two months until insurgents captured the city and freed them. Only crumbling stone remained of the once grand structure. Associated Press-Paramount News photo.

SITUATION IN EUROPE WILL BE TOLD

"Our Present Situation in Europe" is the subject of tomorrow morning's Orange county federal forum broadcast from KVOE at 10:30, to be made by Alden G. Alley, assisted by W. W. Wieman.

The speaker has returned recently from a trip to Europe where he made an extensive survey of economic conditions on that continent. Highlights of his informative talk will include analysis of the attitudes of the peoples of various nations, of Hitler toward Mussolini, and a comparison of military strengths of the various nations.

Speakers for the Orange county Tuberculosis and Health association broadcasts from KVOE this week, from Tuesday until Saturday inclusively, at 12:05 p. m., are announced as follows:

Tuesday, tomorrow, Paul Alberts; Wednesday, Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth; Thursday, Ferris Scott; Friday, W. O. Gray, and Saturday, Ted MacBird.

All are members of the El Camano, cooperating in the Christmas seal campaign.

More about the solar system with interesting data about the sun, moon and the planets will be given in tomorrow evening's adult education broadcast to be made from KVOE at 5:30 by Cecil Wilson, instructor of astronomy, assisted by Ferris Scott.

COLUMBUS DAY KVOE THEME

Columbus day will be observed with a broadcast from KVOE this evening at 6 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Knights of Columbus, when P. C. Dietler, chairman of the civic affairs committee, will make an address.

Dietler will discuss the meaning of Columbus day, the motive behind Columbus' discovery voyage and the motives of the Franciscan and Jesuit Fathers of early California. He will speak also on Americanism from the viewpoint of the Knights of Columbus.

Sin, Disease and Death Topic at Science Church

James' words: "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you," were the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The question "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

One of the Scriptural selections cited Paul's words to the Galatians: Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. . . . Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. . . . And let us not be weary in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not." The Lesson-Sermon included also these statements from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The power of Christian Science and divine Love is omnipotent. It is indeed adequate to unclasp the hold and to destroy disease, sin, and death."

Radio to Provide Rhythm for Feet

The second in the new series of brief, informative talks concerning proper care of the feet will be made during the Healthy Feet program at 7:15 tonight. The speaker is a foot-comfort expert with over 25 years experience.

The music of Bart Woodyard's orchestra will provide rhythm tunes for dancing during the program, featuring the tunes "Sing, Sing, Sing" and "My First Thrill."

More Clashes on Korean Boundary

TOKYO. (AP)—Two new clashes between Russian and Manchoukuan troops on the northern Korean border brought a Japanese protest from the Tokyo government today.

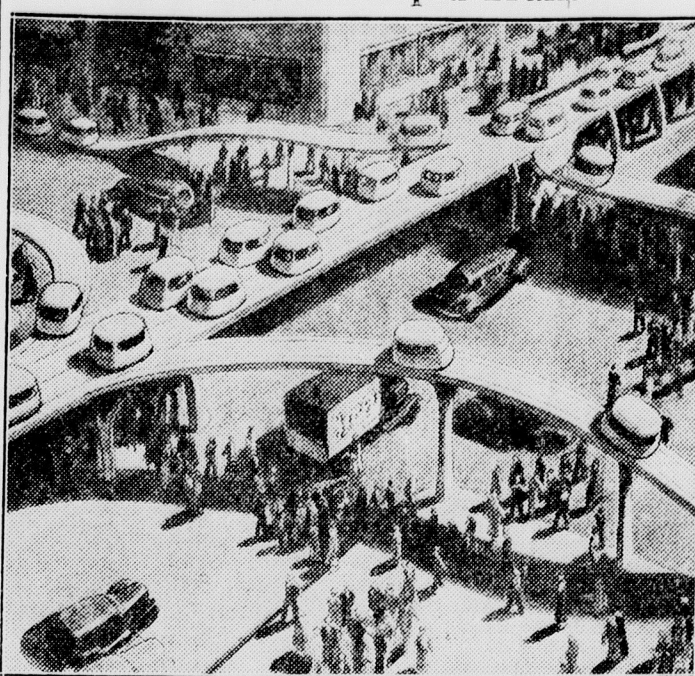

Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita instructed the Japanese embassy in Moscow to protest the incidents.

The clashes were reported to have occurred near Chientao yesterday, resulting in the death of four Manchoukuan soldiers and injury to five others.

Santa Ana chapter of the Women's Political Study club of California has informed William C. Jerome in his campaign for reelection as supervisor from the first district.

Jerome today had received a letter from the organization, signed by Mrs. Charles Walker, secretary, telling him of the club's endorsement.

New Idea for Rapid Transit

John B. Ricketts, jr., a San Francisco commercial artist, has suggested the city adopt this revolutionary system of rapid transit. Small cars holding one person each would run automatically over elevated thoroughfares and be shunted to individual side stations, as shown. (Associated Press Photo)

800 ENTER SIN CONTEST

Preacher Decides Winner

LITCHFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Eight hundred persons from 32 states and Canada who participated in a contest in connection with the Rev. L. A. Crown's Sunday sermon had his conception of the "world's worst sin" today as the "abuse of high privilege."

The 49-year-old Union Avenue Christian church pastor selected Mrs. Lizzie Largent, a teacher at the church Sunday school, as the winner. She received a large picture of "Jesus and the Rich Man" as the prize.

The abuse of high privilege, Mr. Crown said in his sermon last night, has made the United States "a nation of policies without principles, wealth without work, pleasure without conscience, knowledge without character, industry without morality, worship without sacrifice."

The pastor, who said persons "from Maine to California" had given him their opinion of the "world's worst sin," stated 90 of them declared "sinning against the Holy Ghost" the worst evil. Others named ingratitude, starting a nude colony, drunkenness, kidnapping, communism, hypocrisy, slander and lying.

New Robinson Trial Denied

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Federal Judge Elwood Hamilton overruled today the new trial of Thomas H. Robinson, jr., who is serving a life sentence at Leavenworth penitentiary for the $50,000 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speer Stoll. The court allowed an appeal.

10 Drown in Brazil Floods

PORT ALEGRE, Brazil. (AP)—Ten persons are known to have been drowned in this section's widespread floods, state officials announced today. Five thousand refugees had reached this city.

El Modena School Reopens Today

The Lincoln school at El Modena, which has been closed for a month while students picked walnuts, reopened today. The school began its fall session a month early on Aug. 11 to allow time off for the harvest season.

Matt Lujan and Bessie Tinkler returned to the charge of the playground activities at the school.

The city limits of Honolulu take in Palmyra island, 1000 miles to the south.

OLD GLORY WEEK AND COLUMBUS DAY STRESS PATRIOTISM HERE

ACTIVITY OF COMMUNISTS HERE TOLD

Organization of Workers Clubs Carried Out as First Move

From the adoption of the Orange county award affecting field crops until the fall of 1935, Orange county knew no labor strikes in agriculture. This was not because attempts were not made but because they were not successful. Unsuccessful attempts during the summer of 1935 were made to create strikes, in citrus, the beet fields, and also vegetable areas.

Interesting information pertaining to that period follows. In the fall of 1934, Charles McLaughlin, subsection organizer for the Communist party in Orange county, started to organize in this county the Orange county Workers club. The organization was an affiliate and subsidiary of the Communist movement. The membership was to be recruited mostly from relief clients and field workers. The name of the organization was soon changed to the Workers Clubs of Orange county, with units in many areas of the county.

Clubs Gain Strength

During the spring and summer of 1935 these Workers clubs gained considerable strength, attracting over a thousand members to their rolls. By far the greatest majority of these members did not realize that they were members of a Communist organization. Approximately 70 per cent of the membership were Mexicans.

The Communist leaders then began an intensive campaign of education and agitation. Plans for this campaign would be outlined in subsection and unit meetings of the Communist party and then the programs would be later suggested and adopted at the Workers clubs meetings. By this method Orange county was flooded by a continual parade of Communist speakers and organizers active in state and metropolitan Communist activities.

Leaders Listed

Among these outside agitators were such outstanding Mexican Communists as Frank Delgado, Frank Salas, Frank Taylor and a Gonzales. Others were: Alex Norral, James McLean, David Price, Claire Lee Purdy, Frank Ryan, Mrs. Luhan, Waterman, Snyder, plus several of the lesser known, as well as a few members of the Communist intelligencia.

The importance of this drive lay in the fact that so many Mexicans became active that the organizers

+ + Our Presidents + +

James Buchanan Had Strenuous Administration

By ROBERT GARDNER

The election of 1856 was a sectional contest, with the people bitterly divided. The supreme court upheld the Dred Scott decision, Kansas rejected statehood until she could have it without slavery, Minnesota and Oregon came in as free states and John Brown staged his raid on Harper's Ferry. There was furor and trouble and action in the United States under Buchanan.

Buchanan suffered heavy criticism. At the close of his administration the southern states seceded from the union. He strove to be right, but extremists on both sides were strong and they could not be pacified by diplomacy. War was inevitable.

Confederacy Formed

On Dec. 20, 1860, South Carolina voted to secede and in January Mississippi, Florida, Alabama and Georgia seceded. The rest of the south seceded in February. The Confederacy was formed, public property seized, and Buchanan's efforts to make peace were hopeless.

John Brown, during this administration, demonstrated that he was glad to die, and he was executed for the freedom of the slaves. The stirring song, "John Brown's body lies a-mouldering in the grave," was a battlecry.

The tide was too heavy to stop and war stirred the hearts of men.

Biographical Data

Buchanan was born April 23, 1791, the son of James Buchanan, a merchant, and Elizabeth Speer. Educated at Dickinson college, he was a lawyer and a Presbyterian. He never married. In the 1856 election, he received 174 electoral votes. He died June 1, 1868.

BUILDERS TO SEE VARIED PROGRAM

Monthly Meeting Will Be Held Tomorrow At Anaheim

Dinner, drama, ditties, and dynamos.

That's on the program for members of the Orange County Builders exchange tomorrow night when they gather at the Elks club ballroom in Anaheim for their monthly dinner meeting.

Staff members of the Southern California Edison company will furnish the program, to be followed by organization business and a report from Walter Sorenson and Franklyn Smith, delegates to the recent state convention in San Francisco.

The speaker, a representative of the General Electric research laboratories in New Jersey, will address members on lighting. The musical program will include numbers by A. E. Bugge, of the local Edison company office.

"I Couldn't See," a four-act playlet, will be presented by the Edison company players drama organization from the division office in Santa Ana. Ray Taylor is in charge of the program.

Arrangements for a tour of the Metropolitan Water district, being arranged by Col. S. H. Finley, MWD director, will be explained. The trip is scheduled for some time next month.

Dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p. m.

ASK U. S. AID IN DOCK DISPUTE

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Negotiators in the Pacific coast maritime labor crisis looked to the United States maritime commission for aid today as threats of a shipping tie-up Thursday increased.

Though conferences between employers and representatives of 37,000 docks and seagoing workers continued, both sides admitted they were still far apart on basic issues.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady said he had advised the maritime commission that employers, unions and the public hoped it would come here to take a direct hand in the situation.

Chaney to Talk At Laguna Forum

"Shall We Save or Spend?" is the topic to be discussed at 7:30 p. m. today at the Laguna Beach high school auditorium by Homer Chaney, director of the Orange county federal forum, on the forum program there. The question will be discussed as an American dilemma.

At the same hour on Tuesday Dr. Graham Laing will speak at the Anaheim high school auditorium on "More or Less Planning in Government." Chaney will talk tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Huntington Beach Memorial hall on "The Great God Gold." At Tustin high school tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. Lieut. Alden G. Alley will talk on "Dangerous Defects of Public Opinion."

All of the above talks are on the federal forum program. Those wishing to hear Lieut. Alley on a subject not discussed at the Santa Ana meetings will be welcomed at the Tustin meetings.

WOMAN'S BODY IS FOUND

The body of a friend, dead nine days from carbon monoxide gas poisoning, was the discovery made last night by K. C. Tanis, 821 North Olive street, as he returned from a vacation trip.

The victim, Mary Downing, 37, Long Beach beauty shop owner, apparently came to Santa Ana more than a week ago to see Mrs. Tanis, officers said today. Finding no one at home, she apparently broke the lock on the Tanis garage door, drove her car in, closed the door, and left the motor running.

The body was found as the Tanis returned from a trip to Arizona. Bland, Jr., a strange automobile in their garage. They called police, who found a note giving poor health as the reason.

Girl's Clothes on Road Are Mystery

Discovery of a pile of girl's clothing alongside a road here Saturday afternoon set police on an investigation today to solve the mystery of its source.

Two dresses, a gown, a sport skirt, two blouses, a coat and a pair of shoes piled neatly along side Mabury street, north of Fruit street, were reported by J. M. Paulsell, 408 Spurgeon street.

Officers concluded the clothing belonged to a small woman or a girl, but today had been unable to trace the owner.

Texas Boy Fails To Arrive Here

Failing to arrive here on a scheduled visit, a 14-year-old Texas boy was being traced by police today as relatives became worried.

The missing boy is Robert Lafayette Bland, Jr., Abilene, Tex. Dee Bland of Santa Ana told police the boy had left Abilene Oct. 4 and should have arrived here before now. He is described as 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, blond, wearing striped overalls, a leather jacket, and an aviator's cap.

FACES BATTERY CHARGE

Charged with battery, Loran W. Beals, 28, Orange, was booked at the county jail by Orange police yesterday afternoon.

Republicans Hit 'Planned Scarcity' As Woman School Leader Indorses Roosevelt

BY THE REPUBLICANS

"And it came to pass at the end of two full years that Pharaoh dreamed; . . .

"2: And behold, there came up out of the river seven well-favoured kine and fattished; . . .

"3: And, behold, seven other kine came up after them out of the river, ill-favoured and lean-fleshed; . . .

"4: And the ill-favoured and lean-fleshed kine did eat up the seven well-favoured and fat kine."

Joseph, at the time a prisoner, interpreted the dream of the Egyptian ruler to mean that the seven fat cattle represented seven years of plenty while the seven poor cattle represented seven lean years to follow. Upon Joseph's advice, Egypt stored corn and other food against the coming famine.

This bit of history from the Old Testament is interesting to us now because it explains Joseph's "economy of plenty" as against the New Deal's "planned scarcity."

As every school child knows, Egypt, when the famine came, sold food to her neighbors. As the result of the New Deal food destruction even before drought came to America, this country began buying abroad. It is also a coincidence that America's second drought came at the end of seven years of depression.

Shortage of Wine

Biblical history—in fact, all history—presents endless examples of the civil workings of "planned scarcity." In ancient Rome, Emperor Domitian issued orders to promote larger production of grain, but providing that no new vineyards be planted in either Italy or the provinces, and that half the existing vineyards be destroyed. The "planning under" was no more successful in ancient Rome than it has been in modern America. After a time, there was a shortage of wine and Domitian had to issue a new order to resume the cultivation of the vineyards.

Here in America, the government paid farmers more than $471,000,000 to reduce corn by nearly 13 million acres. The reduced acreage represents an area about one-third the size of the state of Iowa. Iowa farmers found that they could not sell their corn on either the Pacific or the Atlantic coast. They could not compete with the corn brought in from the Argentine. Now that the supreme court has held the AAA unconstitutional, it marches on in disguise under the banner of soil conservation. We have the second drought and many farmers must buy foreign corn to feed their animals.

Everyone wants progress but real progress is made by taking advantage of the experience of the past.

Candidates Will Be Church Topic

Four Wednesday night lectures, each devoted to a discussion of one of the four presidential candidates, were announced today by the Rev. Julia N. Budlong, pastor of the Unitarian church, at which they will be presented.

The first talk, entitled "Vote for Landon" will be delivered by Judge J. B. Tucker this Wednesday. He will be introduced by Mrs. Edith Cloyes.

The political series is an interlude between the recent survey of "The Welfare of Orange County" and one to start in November, "The Health of Orange County." The talks are open to the public.

DISCOVERY OF AMERICA IS RECALLED

Flag Displayed as Banks, Courthouse and City Hall Close

Santa Ana and Orange county paused today in the usual round of business to pay twofold remembrance to America.

First, it is Columbus day, anniversary of the discovery of America. Second, it is the start of Old Glory week, set aside to do honor to the American flag and its ideals.

Throughout the county, in every schoolroom the epochal story of Columbus' long journey in search of an eastern trade route which led him to America is being told again.

City and county government offices and banks closed in observance of the day. The postoffice remained open.

The flag is being displayed prominently in homes and office buildings in the county today, in observance of Old Glory week, officially proclaimed by President Roosevelt. Widespread observance of the week is being planned by the American Legion, and many other civic and fraternal groups.

The week is designed to serve notice on radicals that the American flag and the ideals of liberty and patriotism for which it stands are to be respected by all citizens.

Boy Found on 13th Runaway

"I'm 13 years old and this makes the thirteenth time I've run away. I guess I'll go to the big house now, all right."

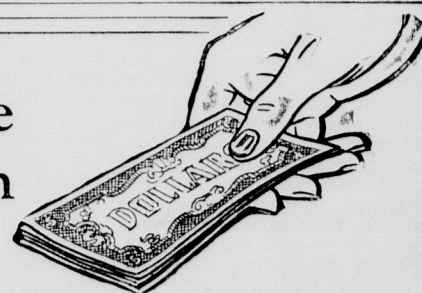

So a San Diego youth, hunted by officers all over the state, was turned over to his parents here Saturday night.

He was picked up at San Juan Capistrano by Highway Patrol Officer Horace Inge and brought here for questioning. Finally identified by a scar on his shoulder, he was found to have been missing from his home for several days. San Diego police said he had a long runaway record. His name is being withheld by the Journal.

SALESMAN HELD

Charged with violation of the immigration act, Wilfred Hobberson, 38, Los Angeles clothing salesman, was booked at the county jail by federal officers Saturday afternoon. He said he was a native of Canada.

A TRUE STORY

"I heard a man say the other day that 'he didn't take no stock in want ads.' I asked him if he had ever advertised for a lost article (I somehow knew he had never advertised a 'found' one) and he said yes and he hadn't got his money's worth in the ad. Now, I am not much on the new publicity game as it is called. I'm a laboring man with a fairly steady job but I have got the alley of a man who says there's nothing in the want-ad columns. I'll tell you why.

"My son Jim, who has just been promoted to a lieutenant in the fire department, owes me the want ad page. It was this way. Jim had been a fireman for a long time. He'd attended every fire in the last five years and he'd had some narrow escapes. When a big factory burned Jim was the man who went down into the storage vaults and brought up a lot of books. He didn't think anything about that. In fact, it was months afterwards when he was looking through the want ad page and came across this ad: 'Will the fireman called Jim, or his relatives, send name and address to the undersigned. Recall fire of January 8th.'

"We all talked that ad over until finally Jim's curiosity got the better of him and he answered the ad.

"Surprising how many Jims there are in a city. The man said he'd had a number of answers to that ad in two days. That showed there's somebody reads other pages than the sporting page. My Jim was the man wanted. He described the books he had taken from the vault. The manager asked him if he could identify them and he said he could. Then they took Jim down to the scene of the fire and after two hours digging under black timbers and fallen bricks they found the books. The man with Jim didn't say much but took Jim back to the office and after they had looked through the books asked Jim to leave his name and address, which he did.

"The next day came a letter with a big check in it and just a line saying if the books hadn't been recovered the company would have been loser to the amount of several thousand dollars.

"Jim advertised for a lot and found just what he wanted, and he's the owner of as nice a little home as you'd want to see. I've helped a lot of lads to find good jobs through the want ad columns, so it isn't any wonder that I haven't any use for the man who says he doesn't believe in it."

Sunday Is Day of Anniversary Celebrations for Two Santa Ana Families

Barnards Are Hosts At a Reception

Wedgewoods Honored At Afternoon Tea At Home

A trip by oxen train from New Hampshire to Iowa when he was but 5 years old, an interesting life in the early days of Marshall county, Iowa, and his marriage on Columbus Day in 1876, 60 years ago, were recalled by Sanborn L. Wedgewood yesterday when he and the "bride" who has shared the more than half century of married life with him held open house at their home at 829 Cypress street.

Friends and relatives called all afternoon, and in the evening their immediate family assembled for an anniversary dinner for which a niece, Mrs. P. A. Gettle, had made a lovely wedding cake with candles and inscription in the frosting.

Daughter Assists
Myriads of flowers, gifts and greetings were showered upon the couple, who were assisted in receiving by their daughter, Mrs. M. R. Kellogg. Mrs. Wedgewood was in a lovely purple taffeta afternoon gown, and wore her past noble grand's pin, one of her prize possessions. Mrs. Kellogg was in white baronet satin.

Mrs. Mary Wilbur of Laguna Beach and Mrs. Gettle presided at the pretty table, which was spread with an old linen cloth and centered with flowers and candles and the wedding cake.

Two grandchildren were also present to celebrate with the pair. Mrs. Florence Pascoe and Mrs. Irma Renaker, both of Los Angeles.

During the afternoon, Mrs. W. A. Chapman sang two solos, "I'm the One That Binds" and "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again," and A. O'Neill of Orange led a prayer.

Married in Iowa
The 1876 wedding took place in Marshalltown, Iowa, where Mr. Wedgewood had been a pattern maker and cabinetmaker since early boyhood. Ogale, Neb., was their next home, and then back to Iowa before they came to California and Santa Ana in 1909 in a two-cylinder Buick. Mr. Wedgewood still has his little shop at his home and busies himself every day making and repairing furniture.

The couple have another daughter, Mrs. Luella Clay, in Custer, S. D., and a son, Benjamin Wedgewood, in Marshalltown, besides the daughter in Santa Ana, Mrs. Kellogg; and also have 20 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. The out-of-the-state members of the family were unable to join in yesterday's festivities, but more than 100 friends helped to make it a happy day for the bride and groom of so many years ago.

Another open house reception yesterday afternoon and evening was in celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barnard, who were married in 1885 in Springfield, Ia., and who received friends yesterday at their home at 319 East Bishop street.

Mrs. Barnard wore a blue silk dress with a corsage of yellow pompon dahlias, and stood in the receiving line with Mr. Barnard.

Two Daughters Here
Assisting in serving and receiving the guests informally throughout the day were the couple's two daughters, Mrs. Phil Collins of Bakersfield and Mrs. M. J. Hostetter of Costa Mesa, and one granddaughter, Betty Ruth Collins.

Another daughter, Mrs. W. R. Craig of Iowa, and a son, L. C. Barnard of Arizona, both of whom were here as guests, were unable to be present for the golden wedding celebration, for which more than 150 friends gathered.

Tea was served from a lace-covered table centered with golden flowers and yellow candles. A myriad of lovely golden blooms, gifts from their friends, decked the house for the happy occasion, and messages and good wishes from friends and relatives in the East arrived throughout the week-end.

DINNER SESSION OF OSTEOPATHS

The Orange County Osteopathic society met for a dinner-session at the Doris-Kathryn tea room last Thursday night, with an attendance of approximately 40.

A moving picture of early diagnosis methods was shown by the Orange County Anti-tubercular society, and Dr. Carl H. Phinney, president of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons of Los Angeles gave a short talk.

FLOWERS TOP EVENING COIFFURE

A single fresh orchid, poised at the part, gives a regal touch to this evening coiffure dressed with the new pompadour which has taken the hairdressing world by storm. The gown of black silk crepe shot with gold threads is cut with an unusual decollete and finished with a diamond clip. Diamond bracelets and clip earrings add the last glittering touches.

EL TORO WOMAN'S CLUB OPENS FALL SEASON

Opening of their new club was marked most appropriately for members of El Toro Woman's club last week by the reading, at their first fall meeting, of a history of the club since its beginning.

The history was prepared and presented by one of the charter members, Mrs. Snow Freeman of Santa Ana, who told how the club had been organized 40 years ago, in 1896, and told who the members were at that time. The club's motto, it work, and congratulations in the interest of the community all had a part in Mrs. Freeman's interesting talk.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Bennie Osterman, who assisted her mother, Mrs. Nellie Munger in entertaining.

After a social hour, the business meeting was held, the president, Mrs. Fred Nelson, welcoming all the members back after the summer vacation. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Richard Harris, and the treasurer, Mrs. John Taylor.

Plans were made for a dinner on Oct. 24 at the El Toro hall, with Mrs. Frank Judson, Mrs. John Osterman, and Mrs. Fred Nelson appointed on the menu committee, and Mrs. Raymond Prothro and Mrs. Harvey Bennett in charge of the white elephant booth.

Mrs. Gus Straw was welcomed as a new member at this meeting, which concluded with the serving of cake and sandwiches, tea and coffee.

Those present were the Mesdames Fred Nelson, Richard Harris, John Taylor, Annie Ahern, Van Whisler, Harvey Bennett, John Osterman, Fred Drews, Charles Salter, Eldon Whisler, Gus Straw, Snow Freeman, Fritz Schindler, Foster Prather, and Raymond Prothro and the hostesses, Mrs. Munger and Mrs. Osterman.

TWO-IN-ONE CLASS TUESDAY

Two-in-one Sunday school class of the First Methodist church will meet at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the social hall of the church. Members are requested to bring covered dishes, sandwiches and their own table service, and dessert will be served by the committee.

CALUMPT WILL DRILL
Calumpt auxiliary officers and members of the floor team are requested to meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the K. C. hall for practice.

Girls' Ebell Plan Holiday Formal

The Thanksgiving season, with its usual round of gaieties marking the brief holiday week-end, will have on its calendar this year the annual formal dance of Santa Ana Girls' Junior Ebell, who, at the meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Betty Timmons in Tustin, made plans for this winter formal event.

Dolly Raitt and Katherine Mather are already working out decoration ideas, and promise something quite different. Jane King is seeing about the music, and Ruth Ann Segerstrom was appointed punch chairman.

Assisting Miss Timmons in her hostess duties Friday were Miss Jean Dowds and Miss Barbara Speed, the three serving a dainty tea course at the beginning of the afternoon. Entertainment feature of the day was the appearance of the four talented little Burke sisters in dances, songs and violin numbers.

Miss Virginia Curry presided over the meeting, during which it was decided that the club would send her and Miss Eleanor Cogan as delegates to the convocation of the Woman's Club Federation Juniors this week-end in Fontana. Miss Timmons was named as Miss Curry's alternate.

The Girls' three advisors, Mrs. Emrys D. White, Mrs. Fred Rowland, and Mrs. M. B. Wellington, were all present at the meeting, and also Mrs. Robert Speed, Mrs. Dowds, and Mrs. Timmons, mothers of the three hostesses.

Orange flowers and candles centered the tea table at which Miss Patsy Miller presided during the first half hour of the meeting.

The club will meet next on Oct. 23 at the home of Miss Segerstrom.

D. U. C. HEARS BOOK REVIEW IN YORBA LINDA

Gathering in the morning at the home of Mrs. William Bates on Valley View road, Yorba Linda, to sew for the coming bazar, Daughters of the Confederacy invited later to a beautifully appointed autumn table in the dining room for a delightful luncheon in the middle of the day.

Gourds and fruits and brightly-colored leaves centered the festive board, at which the hostess presided, with the assistance of Mrs. Lena Thomas, Alma Karlsson, and Damaris Beem in a dinner guests, with bridge during the evening. Miss Beeman held high score.

On Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Wright will have guests at a table of contract at a benefit dessert bridge to be given by the Guild of the Church of the Messiah at the home of Mrs. Harry Spencer on North Park boulevard. Mrs. C. B. Bellows, Mrs. Gilbert P. Campbell, and Mrs. Walter Vandermast will be entertained at that time.

Y. L. I. HEARS TWO SPEAKERS

Two interesting visitors were welcomed at the regular meeting of the Y. L. I. Thursday in the persons of Father Wexenman, a former chaplain, now in San Diego; and a newly appointed institute deputy, Miss Hubertina Thelan, from the Herrmann institute in San Diego.

Miss Thelan, in her greetings, spoke of the Grand Institute golden jubilee and asked members to work for a bigger membership. Father Wexenman spoke of "Spain and Communism."

Mrs. Dorothy Giesler presided over the meeting, during which reports were given on the recent dance and card party by Mrs. Margaret Johnson and Margaret Young. A complete report was not given, as all the money is not yet in, but this will be given at the next meeting, it was stated. Mrs. Johnson asked all members having ticket money to contact her.

Bridge was enjoyed after the meeting, in the first of a series of four card parties. High prize for the evening went to Miss Anna Oehlke. Refreshments were served by the committee at the close.

GARDEN STUDY CLUB MEETS

When the Santa Ana Garden Study club met Friday at the home of Mrs. Guy Belcher, 418 West Second street, each member answered the roll-call with the name of a flower of Scotland.

Mrs. Edward Walker, president, introduced Mrs. L. W. Hypes, a guest of the group, who spoke on methods of preserving cut flowers. She was followed by Mrs. W. R. Heath, who presented a study of flower containers. Mrs. Ray Stedman, secretary, revealed a list of the garden books available at the library, and discussed them briefly.

Mrs. Belcher was assisted in her hostess duties by Miss Ora Davis, Mrs. Blanche Storck and Mrs. Lena McMillan.

Jean Rowland Surprised Saturday

Mrs. Edward Sugden and Mrs. Thomas Jentges joined as co-hostesses Saturday afternoon at a lovely surprise pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Jean Rowland, whose marriage with Wade Cargile of Tulsa, Okla., is to be an event of Oct. 20.

Bridge was the afternoon's diversion, with prizes at the close going to Miss Rowland, the honored guest, for high score, and to Miss Georgia Turner, second. A beautiful gift was also presented to the bride-to-be at that time, the friends joining in giving her an eggshell damask table cloth and raptins to match, to add to her hope chest.

Refreshments were served at small tables after cards, white flowers forming the centerpiece, and little wedding bells molded into the ice cream rolls carrying out the bridal motif of the other appointments.

Invited to honor Miss Rowland on this occasion were the Mesdames Bruce Vegeley, Woodrow Barnett, Herbert Hill, Roy Griset, George Miles, the Mesdames Georgia Turner, Dolly Cox, Eloise Wright, Alyce Majors, and Marjorie Berkner, and Mrs. Fred Rowland and Miss Betty Rowland, mother and sister of the honored guest.

PARTY WILL BE JUNIOR BENEFIT

Plans for a dessert bridge on the afternoon of Oct. 28, at the home of Mrs. Charles Swanner, 1145 East Chapman, Orange, a benefit for the Juniors of the American Legion auxiliary, were discussed by the senior unit committee in charge of arrangements when they met recently at the home of Mrs. Douglas Peddy on West Fifth street.

The affair will be open to the public, tickets to be secured from any member of the committee.

Mrs. Peddy made the business meeting at her home a delightful occasion with a social hour and refreshments at the close. Present were the Mesdames Cornish Roehm, Charles Swanner, Robert Sandon, Bert Casteix, Carl Edgar, Ralph Hoover and David Jellis, and the hostess.

EBELL SECTION LUNCHEONS FRIDAY

Sixth Household section of Ebell will meet Friday afternoon at the clubhouse. Luncheon will be served promptly at half past 12 by Mrs. A. M. Gardner, Miss Lida Crookshank and Mrs. S. M. Davis, this month's hostess committee. Those unable to attend are asked to telephone one of the three hostesses.

The afternoon's program subject is the history of Thanksgiving, and will be presented by Mrs. J. A. Harvey, Mrs. J. S. Smart and Mrs. Chester A. Warren.

Mary Stoddard Show Your Appreciation of Friendship By Few Well-Meant, Sincere Words

By MARY STODDARD

It is so often true that we are too prone to take for granted the finest things in the world. One of the finest things of all is friendship, and it so often happens that the acts of a friend go unthanked, when just a word of appreciation would mean so much. In this wonderful letter from I. L. O., the thought is presented in a manner which has set me thinking, and which will be followed up by those who read it. The letter follows:

LOVE COMES TO DOVER

When springtime comes to Dover

You'll find, I'm sure you'll find,

The soft tones of a gypsy voice

Upon the vagrant wind . . .

And there'll be wreaths of daffodils

Which hands of love have twined.

When summer comes to Dover

Half golden with the glow

Of slanting rays through purple haze,

Like sunsets long ago . . .

I'll kiss your cheek . . . A passing breeze

That wanders to and fro.

When autumn comes to Dover

And all of nature grieves

Because the fingers of the frost

Have seared the summer sheaves . . .

You'll find me in the pool of sun

Among the scarlet leaves.

When winter comes to Dover lanes

And storm and cold are here,

I'll ride the wind's wild steed to you

Across the snowy weir . . .

I'll be the fire to keep you warm,

The hope to still your fear.

LOUIS MERTINS,

GARDEN SECTION MEETS THURSDAY

W. C. Eppler of Bellflower, dahlia expert, will give a 30-minute talk to Ebell club's garden section when it meets next Thursday at the clubhouse, and 30 minutes will be set aside after his talk for discussion and questions. The speaker will have cut flowers with him for illustration.

Luncheon at 12:30 o'clock will precede the meeting, over which Mrs. J. T. Wilson will preside, and which will open with a brief talk by Mrs. J. E. Paul on "New and Rare Flowers and Plants." Plans will also be made for a field trip.

Fall Series of Parties Launched

Mrs. E. D. White and Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth entertained Saturday afternoon at a bridge luncheon in Mrs. White's lovely home at 2115 North Broadway, the first of a series of luncheons planned for fall.

Dahlias in baskets brightened the rooms, while a long, low centerpiece of pompon dahlias graced a long table. On card tables, single blossoms centered on mirrors carried the same motif.

At the close of an afternoon of contract, prizes were awarded to Mrs. M. E. Wellington, Mrs. M. W. Natland, Mrs. John Tesson, Mrs. Lawrence Coffing, Mrs. R. C. J. Lowe, Mrs. J. K. Hermon, Mrs. Cassius Paul, and Mrs. Rex Kennedy.

Assisting in hostess duties were Mrs. Wellington, Mrs. Lester Carlen, Mrs. William Spurgeon and Mrs. Emrys D. White Jr.

giving a few words of praise now and then you'll make them a lot happier. It's rather hard to show our appreciation at times, I know, but be worthy of the love and trust put in you by another, for by doing our best to be worthy and being sincere you will make many hearts happier.

Remember, though, to be worthy of the trust put in you by another, and many an aching heart will be avoided.

Perhaps some of your readers have more to add to this, but my reason in writing what I know to be true is because once it worked wonders for me. Just the few words of heartfelt appreciation to the finest friend I have—I. L. O.

Thanks for your letter, I. L. O. It is so true that the finest things in life we are too prone to take for granted. "Flowers for the Living" should be the everyday motto for each and every one of us.

Texas Bluebonnet's Beauty Notes

Editor's Note: Miss Frances Nalle, referred to in today's column, is a niece of Charles G. Nalle and Mrs. Rolla Hays, sr., of this city, and visited in Santa Ana briefly a year ago.

By JACQUELINE HUNT

It has been said that Southern girls spend more time on their appearance—and probably spend it more intelligently—than almost any women in the world. So let's take a leaf out of the diary of one of them and see just what she does.

Frances Nalle, the lovely Bluebonnet Belle of the Texas Centennial, was chosen for this special honor from among hundreds of charming Southern girls. Just what is her beauty secret? Probably she couldn't tell you herself—but there are the three things in which she takes particular pride: her hands, her creamy, clear skin and what she describes as "inward beauty," which is nothing more or less than radiant health.

Exercise Out-of-Doors

Her beauty routine includes plenty of outdoor exercise, and stretching exercises inside on days when it rains. She thinks that drinking plenty of water is equally important—at least eight glasses a day, and one of them she takes before breakfast with a little lemon juice added.

Her lovely skin has never been neglected for a day. Once a week she uses a yeast facial, and morning and evening she gives her face a thorough cleansing with a lather of mild soap. This is followed by two thorough rinsings, and an application of tissue cream gently patted in. When dressing for dinner, she allows the cream to sink in while she takes her tub, gives her hair a thorough, scalp-deep brushing and inspects her nails.

Hands need daily attention in addition to the weekly manicure. A jar of cream should be kept near the wash bowl and used every time the hands are washed. Work back the cuticles each night with oily cuticle remover and if the polish is chipped or grown out, remove it and give the nail a new coat.

Her Nail Polish Choice

Miss Nalle used the smoky shades of nail polish instead of the more vivid shades because the soft undertones make her nails harmonize with all of her favorite colors. When changing from a beige or green frock to a blue, she changes from a rust shade of polish to a soft mauve or old rose. And she never covers the half-moon.

All Southern girls cling to the tradition of keeping out of the sun and protecting hair and complexion against both the sun and wind. Miss Nalle relies on her weekly yeast pack to keep her skin fair and free of blemishes. Here is how she makes it:

Soften two cakes yeast in enough sweet milk to make a paste that will spread easily. Cleanse the face with soap and water, rinse and hold a washcloth wrung out of very warm water over the face for a minute to relax the pores. Spread the paste over the entire face, except for the eyes. Leave it on for 15 minutes and remove with warm water. Complete the facial with cold compresses to firm the skin.

EPISCOPAL GROUP MEETS
The Young Women's Service club of the Church of the Messiah will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John L. Taylor, 415 East Chestnut street. Those planning to attend are requested to telephone 5099-J.

Poor Spelling Gives Bad Impression

"Goodness, what a dreadful person little Mattie Smith must have grown to be," says Mrs. Grace. She's shocked by the spelling of her childhood playmate. "I am coming with my husband to Belleville," writes Mattie. "He is making preparations for a business trip. I'll seize this opportunity to visit you and renew our friendship. We arrive Wednesday." Mrs. Grace would look forward eagerly to meeting her old friend again, but she can't help being doubtful of some one who mispells common words like "congregations," "business," "opportunity," "friendship" and "Wednesday."

Many otherwise charming people are misjudged because of poor spelling. Our 32-page booklet helps you correct this inexcusable error whether it's caused by nervousness, poor hearing or carelessness. You can't afford to be without its valuable list of commonly misspelled words and its easy-to-remember rules.

Send 10 cents for your copy of "Words Most Often Misspelled in Santa Ana Journal Home Service." Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

About Folks

News of Your Family and Friends Is Important. The Journal Welcomes It. Telephone 3600.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kornder of Visalia are guests of the Misses Harriet and Myrtle Rutherford, 519 East First street, for a week. The three women are sisters.

Mrs. John Kinyon, 805 Hickory street, was called to San Diego this week because of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. A. French of Santa Ana, who was visiting another daughter in that city.

Miss Florence Yoch and Miss Lucille Council of San Marino spent the week-end in Laguna Beach, supervising the building of their new home.

Mrs. E. L. Hall, who makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Johnson, at 931 Louise street, is reported recovering from the serious illness which necessitated sending for her daughter, Mrs. A. Forsyth, and her brother, Robert Malcolm, of Imperial, Neb. The two will remain with Mrs. Hall a little longer.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dickson of 334 Harwood place have as house guests for a week Mrs. Dickson's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Palmer of Redondo Beach.

Several members of the local Disabled War Veterans, and members of the auxiliary, drove to San Fernando yesterday, where they visited numerous veterans, and presented them with cigarettes and candy. Those going were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Laub, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pickard, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Maxson, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Gaddis of Anaheim, Mrs. J. Hollis, Mrs. Frances Thatcher, Miss Edna Lang of Anaheim, V. L. Brown, John Cleary, Marshall Dunning and Ed Kittle.

While in New York recently, Mrs. Mary M. Thompson, buyer for Rankin's, was entertained at the Rainbow room of the Radio City administration, one of the city's most beautiful clubs, and enjoyed visits to the Metropolitan and new Roosevelt museums, the aquarium on the Bowers, and took a boat trip around the island. Drives to West Point, Westchester and other points, and attendance at several of the season's plays also added to the pleasure of her stay.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Stanley of Tustin spent this week-end visiting their new grandson, young Stephen Batchelder, who was born Oct. 8 at the Scripps Memorial

Try Indian Roast Corn

By JUDITH WILSON

In selecting corn for cooking always be sure that the husks are rich green in color with no suggestion of wilt or dryness.

Try this Indian method for preparing roasted ears:

Remove the husks and silks of choice corn and boil in about 2 quarts of salted water to which 2 tablespoons sugar have been added. About 10 minutes cooking time is usually allowed but this may vary a minute or two depending on the age of the corn. Have your broiler oven preheated. Remove the corn from the hot water, drain and brush with butter or drippings. Place as near the broiling flame as possible and brush with butter several times as the corn browns. Turn frequently. Serve at once. Corn prepared in this way has an unusually nice flavor.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

The insidious disease "politicus annuiss" even infects the generally immune sports page, sometimes.

Back in Cincinnati, Jesse Owens, negro Olympic star, made a Republican political speech the other night in an effort to woo negro votes. But a half hour before time for the rally, a truck went down the street bearing the sign: "Jesse Owens has left town; meeting called off." Howzat for a dirty trick?

But the campaign show is really getting interesting to the audience. Father Charles E. Coughlin has accepted a challenge literally flung at him by the Roosevelt forces and says that each time President Roosevelt makes a fire-side chat in major cities, he (Father Coughlin) will also make a fire-broad-side speech in the same place.

Well, now I guess Father Coughlin can make a speech every time President Roosevelt does, if he wants to, and in the same place, if he wants to—except one place. I'll bet he won't get an invitation "flung" at him to speak from the White House!

CHURCH WOMEN MEET AT ISLAND

The Mary Blair class of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed not only a delicious potluck luncheon when members met last Friday at the home of Mrs. Ethel Taylor, 316 Coral street, Balboa Island, but a pleasant and informal afternoon made up of strolls along the bay and other relaxations appropriate to the beach atmosphere.

Members enjoying Mrs. Taylor's hospitality were the Mesdames J. Arterburn, C. Baird, N. Baxter, H. Carse, G. Christian, M. Christ, A. Eells, H. Eyerly, C. Harwood, C. Haik, L. Lauderbach, A. Metzger, J. Moore, N. Pegues, J. Pletke, H. Pollock, G. Riley, O. Scher, W. West, C. Winan, C. Archer, R. Healey, E. Johnson, V. Crawford and J. A. Spears, and the Misses M. Blair, L. Friedley, R. Jones, C. Taylor and S. Groff.

DIEHLS HOME FROM SALT LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Diehl of 2309 Bonnie Brea returned Tuesday from a five-week trip by motor to Salt Lake City, where their daughter, Mrs. K. V. Beers, and children of Miami, Fla., met them for a visit with relatives there and in Denver.

The Diehls visited Zion National park and Bryce canyon on the way east, and enjoyed a ten-day fishing trip in Colorado before continuing through Wyoming and Montana, Yellowstone park and Jackson's Hole in the Tetons. Their return was over Columbia highway and down the Oregon coast.

hospital in La Jolla. He is the second child of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Batchelder of Del Mar. His mother is the former Marian Stanley.

A marriage license was issued last week in Las Vegas, Nev., to Ruth Moll of Santa Ana and Cleave Cloer of Fullerton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hill, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hill, jr., spent the week-end at Lake Arrowhead, celebrating the birthday of Mr. Hill, sr.

Tom Hennion, sports editor of the Ventura County Star, and Bill VeDel of Brea were visitors here Sunday. VeDel was formerly of Ventura.

George Williams, 422 South Flower street, is out of town this week on a vacation trip.

John Neubauer, Anaheim sports writer, attended the U. C. L. A. Washington football game in Los Angeles Saturday afternoon.

Roy Pinkerton, Ventura, who spent several days last week in Santa Ana on business, left Friday. He and Mrs. Pinkerton stopped off in Los Angeles to attend the football game Saturday before returning to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walker, 525 East Chestnut street, motored to Lake Arrowhead yesterday.

Mrs. Ivan Bellman, Newport Beach, was in Santa Ana Saturday afternoon.

Baxter Jouvenal, former Santa Ana now in business in Los Angeles, will be here tomorrow on a business trip.

THESE MARIAN MARTIN PRINCESS LINES ARE EASY TO CUT

PATTERN 9067

Here's a frock that's young in line, gay in design, and out to meet the demands of a busy life with smartness and dispatch. It's one that's ever so easy to make, too, for see those straight-to-the-hip panels, all cut in one piece. Shoulder yoke fits without a wrinkle, sleeves stand out smartly at the top, while the convertible neckline may be worn either opened or fitting snugly at the throat. Wouldn't the belted version be smart made up in a novelty sheer wool, say, with angora stripes or in a pretty cotton tweed, jersey or wool crepe. The unbelted version would be both smart and dressy in velveteen, soft synthetic or satin. Complete. Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9067 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards of 54-inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and style number.

Be Sure to State Size

Be sure to order the new issue of our Marian Martin Pattern Book! Be the first to wear the latest fall models that it shows—for home, business, shopping, sports, parties. See the thrilling pages of special slenderizing designs... the clever models for children, growing girls, debs... the latest fabrics and costume accessories. Book 15 cents. Pattern 15 cents. Twenty-five cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to The Santa Ana Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif.

ZETA T. PLEDGES SIX MEMBERS

A steak dinner was served Friday night at the home of Miss Lorraine Tarbox to compliment new pledges of Zeta T, the sorority of which Miss Tarbox is a member.

After the delicious meal had been finished the pledges were informed that they must follow certain rigorous rules, pertaining to clothes and personal appearance, for the coming week, and much merriment ensued at the prospect of cosmetic-less faces, straight hair, beltless uniform dresses, and boys' shoes.

For that evening, however, no such rules applied, and the entire group proceeded to the high school football rally, the movies, and ultimately, the DeMolay dance.

Pledges attending were Miss Jocelyn Brando, Miss Ellen Neal, Miss Ruth Switzer, Miss Barbara Voe, Miss Lois Riggs and Miss Jayne Nalley while members present besides the hostess and the club advisor, Miss Margaret Glenn, were Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Mary Jean Welders, Miss Ruth Rimel, Miss Kay Palmer, Miss Lucyle Holmes, Miss Mildred Tucker, Miss Dorothy Flaherty, Miss Lorraine Sweet, Miss Lucille Griggs, Miss Peggy Sudduth and Miss Jean Hill.

LATHROP P-T. A. GROUPS

Lathrop P-T. A. executive board will hold its regular meeting tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Forrest Menzie, 422 Harwood, with Mrs. Rufus Bond presiding.

The room mothers are to meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the school.

CHURCH PLANS SUPPER

A supper of Virginia baked ham and apple pie will be served tomorrow from 6 to 8 p. m. in the church basement by members of St. Peter's Lutheran church. A nominal charge will be made and the public is invited.

Townsend Clubs

Club No. 6 will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Community house of the Christian church, Sixth and Broadway.

Club No. 10 will enjoy a potluck supper tonight, served by the clubwomen, at 5:30 p. m. in the basement of the Free Methodist church. Coffee, cake and ice cream provided. Bring your own table service.

Club No. 5 will serve ice cream, coffee and cake at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow, in the dining room of the Richfield Avenue Methodist church. There will be music provided by the C. B. Hurd and Earl Lentz orchestra. H. C. Westover will speak. Members and friends invited.

Show Your Hand in Smart Crochet

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

An Exclusive Model in Crochet

PATTERN 5710

Nippy days, warm ensembles, bid you show your hand in smart crochet, and more particularly, in these gracefully styled gauntlets. They work up fast, for two identical pieces, crocheted lengthwise, form the hands. The smart, flared cuffs in simple rib stitch, are done extra, a bit of contrasting yarn adding a touch of color. In pattern 5710 you will find directions for making these gloves; an illustration of them and of all stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth St. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Schooldays Foster Contagion

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M. D.

Vacation is over and your children are in school. Numerous inconveniences will develop as the result of contact with so many other children. Many of these distresses are in the form of skin diseases, which do not impair the health, but do cause much discomfort and loss of time in school.

One of the most common of these is impetigo; a contagious form of eczema. In adults it is referred to as "barber's itch." It occurs on the hands and face, particularly on the forehead as a small flattened blister which ruptures and forms a yellowish brown crust. Often several blisters rupture and run together making a patch ranging from the size of a dime to that of a silver dollar.

It is readily cured in the early stages by the liberal use of soap and water and the frequent application of an ointment comprised of ammoniated mercury, 10 grains, and unguentum aquae rosae, one ounce. The child should be removed from school and compelled to use his own washrags and towels till recovery has become complete.

Another contagious skin trouble is warts on the hands. Our grandmothers told us they came from playing with toads, but we know they are due to a virus to which some children are very susceptible. These should be treated before they spread to the face or to others in the family. The home use of acids and caustics is unsafe as it may cause extreme pain and leave disfiguring scars. Warts can be readily removed by the use of X-ray or the electric needle.

I PICKED The Journal

• There's no money to waste in our family. We have to get the most for every dollar. That's why I picked The Journal.

• I found out that there is much more of interest to women in The Journal than in any other Orange County paper.

• There is Betty Cox's society page and another page just full of club news, recipes, beauty and health hints.

• And The Journal carries more food advertising than any other county medium. I save a tidy sum each week in food specials.

• Then, too, you save money on The Journal's subscription price. It's more interesting, and it is only 50 cents a month.

• Besides all that I'm helping my Carrier Boy earn his own way and to learn the principles of good business conduct!

Save the Fishing Grounds

ANOTHER indirect threat to Orange county's ocean fishing grounds is due for a kick in the slats when the Fish and Game Development association gets under way in its drive against the sardine reduction ships which operate beyond the three-mile limit.

As the matter stands, these huge vessels, which reduce sardines to meal and oil, seem to be depleting the coast's sardine population rapidly. And as the sardines vanish, the big game fish which feed upon them likewise disappear. That means the thousands of sportsmen who angle in this area will have to go elsewhere—if, indeed, the reduction ships don't clear out every available fishing grounds.

A law is now being sought by the association which would prevent fishing smacks from taking sardines to these off-shore reducing plants, without a permit. In this way the tremendous depletion of sardines, and the resulting drop in the number of larger fish, can be to some extent prevented. Orange county sportsmen and businessmen should back up the conservation agencies in this worthwhile effort.

Father Coughlin has threatened to use bullets, but we won't have to worry about that for four years. Meanwhile, gas masks are enough.

Slack in the Budget

IT IS the slack in the family budget that counts," says one of the pithy articles in a recent issue of Factory Management and Maintenance. "Slack," the article says, "being what is left over after paying for the things which we simply have to have. On the average our slack is 30 per cent more than the European family has after it has bought and paid for the bare necessities of life."

The article goes on to point out that 71 per cent of the world's automobiles are owned in America, half the telephones, and that two out of three American families own a radio. And it points to the education institutions, electrical and gas appliances, the household plumbing, and a vast array of labor-saving devices that are available to the masses in America.

The article is simply another presentation of the fact that the higher the wage standard, the higher the living standard. For the higher wages are, the more work there is for the folks who build radios and automobiles, install telephones, and provide all the comforts which the average American so much appreciates and enjoys and in many cases considers a necessity of life.

Women go round and round, advises a psychologist. And when they get too round, they take to cottage cheese and pineapple.

Recognition of Russia

ONE OF the silliest ideas advanced this campaign is that President Roosevelt should break off diplomatic relations with Russia to prove that he isn't hand in glove with the Soviet Regime. Even some of the Democrats are advocating this—in the hope that it will gain the President more votes.

The simple truth is that recognition of one government by another does not carry either approval or disapproval. Hitler hates Communism, but Germany recognizes Russia. Mussolini is opposed to Communism, but Italy recognizes Russia. Nothing could be more opposed to Communism than the conservative imperial, capitalist British government; yet it recognizes Russia. Japan has long been at swords' points with Moscow, but it maintains recognition.

Only one thing would be sillier than the suggestion that President Roosevelt break off diplomatic relations with Russia in order to gain a few votes. That would be for him to do it.

If the war in Spain continues there won't be even an old Spanish custom left for tourists to see.

Government Service

WORK for a government can be a fine, and worthwhile career, but in some cases it can become a blight on a man's ambition. Forty years ago, when the Conservative government went out of office in Quebec, a young doorman lost his job. Until this fall, the Liberals held sway. Then the election put the Conservatives back in after two score years.

An old, white-haired man approached the leader of the party last week, the wire reports. "I've been waiting 40 years for my job," he said. It was given him, and he will be back tending his door after an absence of 40 years, when parliament convenes.

In that tragedy, there is a lesson for the rest of us: be steadfast in ambition, but be sure that ambition is worth while.

Drive carefully. Don't take a life!

A Warning of Disaster

TWO CURRENT news stories from the Northwest give an ominous message to all who will read.

The first: Walla Walla grain brokers announce they have sent no wheat to the Pacific coast for nearly a month. They do not want to be forced to pay storage on wheat, as they did during the shipping strike of two years ago.

The second: Russia has sent no gold ore to the Tacoma smelter for some time, not wishing to get her gold shipments involved in any maritime controversy.

Already, in these two instances, the Pacific coast is losing business, at the mere threat of a shipping strike. The consequences of a real strike might be disastrous to our prosperity.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal, M. and I recall our Cincinnati days by an occasional meander through the German district of Yorkville. With its bierstubes, goose-necked pipes, guttural overtones. Wherever a German community all ways a Turn Halle with gym in back.

In Yorkville they still perform on parallel bars, turning pole and "chase," muscled fellows, they are. There is usually an auditorium, beer and pinocchio room and outside a "garten" with bosomy wives and children sipping, munching and at intervals bursting full-throated into song.

Most old burlesque shows had a waddy, raffish German comic who took the stage with the corny girls for his "class" and by means of blackboard and pointer rendered "ist dass nicht ein garten haus?" number. They still do over at Myers in Hoboken and at Max's in E. Eighty-sixth street, Manhattan.

Out Cincinnati way we had some tongue-rolling names. Such as Wullschlaeger, Firstenbergers and Herbaschliemers. But in Yorkville they seem shortened to Hohn, Koester and Aarand. Not many have lived among German people without acquiring admiration for their thrift and cleanliness.

And there's something about a crowd of Scandinavian domestics. Those taffy-haired girls with eyes of cornflower, grouped up and going some places on a trolley, let us say on their night out. They seem so much pleased by the little things. Their daughter so full-voiced, wholesome. They scare up astonishingly pretty maids in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and in little debt-paying Finland. I recall the tingle of hearing five such girls talk on a dinky trolley clanging-clanging to Versailles one summer evening. They first conversed in native tongue, then switched to perfect French and finally into excellent English. Nice listening to. But when they sensed me eaves-dropping they reddened and were silent.

Victor Lawson, the Chicago Daily News man, is the only Scandinavian I've changed his name from Larson—I ever knew to be conspicuously successful in the newspaper game. He always had a sprinkle of Lindbergh-looking Scandinavians. Quick, thoughtful, yellow-haired boys with round hair cuts. Being a reporter who lived in terror of the Blue Envelope, I tried several times in passing through town to article myself to the News. It was a legend one never got sacked during the Lawson reign. Employes stayed indefinitely. Even tipplers. Luchers, after a few weeks on the loose, would come back, throw off their coats and inquire: "Well, am I still working here?" And almost always they were. And no social security laws in those days.

About the handsomest cartoonist in the business during his or any other day was on the old News—L. D. Bradley. He was also an overseer of the art room and, when fishing in his roll top desk for typewritten gags for artists would mumble: "Pretty dry. It hush." That phrase often assails me at the wind-up of a column.

Then the newsboys had a Roman holiday reporting baseball games in Germany some weeks ago. "Third base" was "third location" to the foreigners. The pitcher was "the thrower in" and center field "the middle outside." One Englishman referred to the bases as "places of refuge."

One of the journalists collected some rare fish stories recently, a number from an ancient skipper that would suggest the caption: "The Captain Lets his Hair Down." "One Move Over, Boys, and Give the Skipper a Chair by the Stove." Anyway, the next time I'm all fevered up to a name calling mood I'm going to borrow from the captain's tale and call someone "a shovel-nosed grampus." A fish the old salt talked about.

The fiery John Hamilton strikes me as turning in a bang-up performance so far. His danger, I believe, has been in his youth which might have in sudden enthusiasms made him relatively naive and sophomoric. There were off chances of being jockeyed by the strategist Farley into statements he might rue. Farley builds up secret corrals for such trappings. An old Tammany trick. Most forensics boiled down go back to the Bryan battle cry: "Let the people rule!" And that's never the idea of master politicians—but it should be the idea of those who love liberty unless they want to say good-bye to all that and genuflect to a Stalin or Mussolini.

SCIENCE NEWS

It has recently been found that a thin coat of aluminum paint applied to automobile engines improves the cooling of the motors. The paint, which is sprayed on, has a high-heat conductivity and because of its brightness, acts as an efficient reflector to dissipate engine heat into the atmosphere. It is said, also, to increase the efficiency of the motor.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's note: Messrs. Pearson and Allen again lapse into their thoroughly off-hand vacation today, with Harold J. T. Horan, Washington correspondent of the London Daily Express and an outstanding British newspaperman, batting for them. Subject of Mr. Horan's contribution is a certain well-known team of Washington columnists.)

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN
Correspondent of the London Daily Express

WASHINGTON—Gentlemen and Ladies! Step this way to get a real close-up of the two curiosities who run the Washington Merry-Go-Round! Here are the two most remarkable journalists in captivity! The most feared, the most daring! Now you see them—trapped on the hot spot by inviting an outsider to write their column.

Step up and look them over. Here is Bob Allen, red-headed, thick-set, muscular, never weary, a vest, clothes somewhat untidy, feels best when he needs a shave, but shoes shinning spotlessly. Looks and acts like a Cupid with a grouse.

And here is Drew Pearson, long lean, lithe, wears an English guardsman's moustache, sports beautifully tailored clothes, but his shoes are a disgrace.

This tandem has become the Henry Monckton and George Jean Nathan of modern journalism. It is a formidable combination. It doubles the punch while halving the responsibility, and the Pearson-Allen team has developed it to a highly successful degree.

Success is due to their own unique personalities. They are exact opposites, yet they work together perfectly. For each supplies exactly what the other lacks. Pearson has a soft silky voice full of dialectic snares for recalcitrant interviewers. Allen roars his questions in a truculent mixture of sarcasm, grunts and profane asides. Drew drives a Lincoln, Bob rides in street cars. Bob works in a musty basement under an electric light, Drew pounds his typewriter in a garret, hotter in the summer than the tropics. And to give an illusion of coolness—it is a sprinkler which keeps a sprinker wetting down the tin roof.

Bob works in an old army shirt, worn khaki pants, a pair of moccasins. Drew wears a brilliant pair of pajamas, touched off by a mouth-ent but gaudy sash, picked up in Albania.

There are just two things which this remarkable pair seem to have in common. One is a passion for digging out and writing the truth. The other is for gardening. This is their chief recreation.

THEY WEED AND DIG
Both are terrific workers, seldom finish before one or two in the morning. But despite that they are up before an 8 o'clock breakfast on summer mornings to weed and dig.

Bob Allen's favorites are gladioli and gardenias. All last summer he scrubbed the stalks of his gardenia plants with soap and water to banish insects, with the tenderness of a mother bathing her babe. Once he told a cabinet member, with pride in his voice, that he had three blossoms on his peach tree. The only time Bob ever really rowed with his wife was when he trimmed his popular trees so that nothing was left but a tuft like the end of a poodle dog's tail.

Pearson goes in for mint beds, climbing roses and zinnias, though the latter, he says, make him nervous.

Allen is married to Ruth Finney, one of the most brilliant newspaperwomen in Washington. Pearson once was married to the Countess Gzycka, and one of his closest friendships remains that with his ex-mother-in-law, Mrs. Cissie Patterson.

Bob Allen seldom drinks, but chews the most foul-tasting gum known to man. He takes only prune juice for breakfast, eats no lunch, continues the fast until 10 p. m., when he eats his one and only meal. Then he gorges.

Drew eats regularly and bountifully, but manages to stay thin. When writing books, which he does about once a year, he drinks a strong South American brew, yerba mate, around midnight to keep awake two hours longer. When Bob is book-writing, his wife sometimes finds him in the morning asleep on his study floor, fully clothed, the light still burning.

BACKGROUND
Pearson has lived about five years abroad, worked as a sailor on the Pacific, did newspaper work in the Far East, lectured in Australia, directed post-war relief work in the Balkans, where a town is named Pearsonavatz in his honor.

He still pounds out his news stories on a little typewriter that he has carried around the world twice, across the Gobi desert, up to Tibet, and through Siberia. He has written a good part of four books on it, and several million words of news stories. It is battered and worn but he will not give it up.

Bob Allen is an ex-cavalryman, joined Pershing's expedition to Mexico, went to France where a shell sent him back wounded. The best newspaper performance in Washington is given by Bob Allen. He irks, provokes, sneers at his quarry until his victim has blurted out the truth.

BOB'S WEAKNESS
Despite Bob's bluster, he has a great weakness for children, and every Christmas makes a trip to New York to buy toys for the children of his friends. He has none of his own.

One thing Pearson is sensitive about is his rapidly thinning hair. It is reported that he takes scalp treatments.

When Frank B. Kellogg was secretary of state, Pearson published a startling series of stories which had the diplomats dithering. One diplomat finally brought the latest article to Kellogg's desk and said: "I can't imagine where Pearson got that story, Mr. Secretary. Only two people knew about it—you and I."

"Why, of course," replied Mr. Kellogg, brightly, "I told Mr. Pearson that myself. We go to the same scalp specialist for treatments."

One of the curiosities of the Pearson garden is a fish pool in which swim several impressively named fish. There is a goldfish called Henry Morgenstern, a venerable pike named Cordell Hull, a frisky Harry Hopkins, and a fighting catfish called Harold Ickes.

Once Drew's little daughter startled her father's guests by running up and exclaiming: "Oh, daddy, General MacArthur is dead. He's floating on top of the pool."

RAPS LOCAL OPTION

To the Editor: I have been reading quite a lot in your paper about local option and prohibition. I lived in Arizona where we had local option, and that little town that should have been dry was the wettest place I ever saw. It will be the same here if we have local option.

We have had local option in some places. We have had prohibition for about 20 years. Both local option and prohibition cannot be enforced. I don't see why people should want either.

If we have prohibition, it will throw a lot of men out of work, and we will also lose a lot of tax revenue. And the government will spend millions and millions trying to enforce the law.

Was prohibition a success? I say no. All it did was to create a few millionaire bootleggers. It does not matter whether the country is dry or not. If a man wants liquor, he can always get it. So let's keep the country as it is and get some revenue out of the liquor business instead of running the nation into debt fighting the bootleggers.

Journalaffs

By ART SHANNON

Howdy, folks! Another old-timer is one who can remember when editors used to write editorials denouncing long hatpins:

The White House has now been completely renovated. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt must have decided to renew their lease in 1936.

University scientist declares the world does not rotate steadily, but wobbles.

Gashouse Gus says he noticed that Saturday night.

No, Archibald, just because you paid ten bucks for that banjo doesn't mean that you've got a tenor banjo.

Biologists now say we are descended from the amoeba. Gosh, and we thought at the time we were descended from a Democrat.

"Give an example of sound advice."

"Shut up."

Fed wedding anniversaries are held in Hollywood. You have been married at least a year before you're entitled to one.

"Lil Gee Gee embroiders beautifully. Don't you think?"

"Yes—everything she says."

Today is wash day, and this evening men will come home from their nice comfortable offices and tell their tired wives how hard they worked. And yet they say murder is unjustifiable.

Oh, I'm sure this one is a mushroom!

Science News

The U. S. Department of Health has recently developed a nasal spray which has served successfully to prevent infantile paralysis in monkeys. The simple chemical solution is sprayed into the nose of a common atomizer. It is being tested on human beings in areas where the disease is prevalent, since it is harmless to the tissue touched by it and since it has been noticeably successful in treating man's closest animal cousin, the monkey.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

MORE SERVICES WITHOUT PAYING FOR THEM
Hence, the necessity of hiring traffic officers to tell us when to go and when to stop. Not long ago children could be trusted to get to school unaided. Now we must have traffic officials to steer them across the streets.

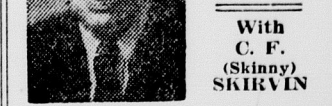

And so it has been on a hundred fronts. Where once we did things for ourselves or went without them we now hire specialized services done. And, of course, at public cost. Once we ate what came to hand with no questions asked. Now every mouthful must be examined and inspected and passed upon, as to quality and quantity, by government experts. Once, we thought ourselves intelligent enough to build houses to suit our own pleasure. Now, we can't lay a brick or turn a stone without getting approval from government.

All of which costs money, and will cost more money. It might well be conceded that the social benefits resulting from such controls are more than worth the costs. A closely-knit modern society must have certain standards to which all must conform. The public welfare demands it. Health and safety require it. But if these things are necessary and desirable we should quit groaning about the cost. Our chief concern should be to see that the best results are derived from every dollar paid in taxes, however heavy the burdens may be.

We thought the horse-and-buggy days were too slow. So we bent every energy toward turning out tens of millions of motor cars. Then we found the streets so cluttered up we couldn't get through

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town
With C. F. SKRIBVIN

Columbus day.

Well, Chris, I sent you a letter a year ago today. Either you are a bum correspondent, or Jim Farley's boys do not have your forwarding address. Gee, with the rapid transit system we now have I should have had a reply. You certainly have had time to "come across." We do not take so much time now to do things as you did. According to your sailing record you left Palos Aug. 3, 1492, and it took you until Oct. 12, 1492, to discover land. Since your leisurely voyage the transportation system has changed from the Santa Maria, the Nina and the Pinta, to the Queen Mary. Seems like we can't get any place any more unless we have a Queen to help us. But you started it with Queen Isabella. Why, Amos 'n' Andy can't get along without Madame Queen.

Say, Chris, don't try to find any more land. All we are doing now is fighting over what has already been discovered. What you thought was yours to have and to hold is now what the other fellow wants. There's a mess going on in Spain now which no one ever dreamed could happen. I don't know where you are but wherever you are you are better off than being in Spain. You wouldn't be able to get a voyage financed now. They'd say you're shooting your money away; gone completely berserk. They have chosen up sides, and there isn't any arbitration provisions. The rules call for you to kill or be killed. You thought you had a tough time of it, but "you ain't seen nothing yet." If you are by any chance still looking for land, just keep going, and if you find any don't tell anybody. It will just raise that much more hell.

You might do us a good turn, however, if you could send us some information about a new civilization. The one we got has gone barbaric. It's the same old cave-man stuff, only we have different instruments. Instead of hitting the other fellow over the head with a rock we just chuck a few tons of dynamite out of an airplane. So far it has been more effective than having the bell-boy call to wake him up and it's economical because you do not feel obligated to pay tips. There'll be a cover charge, however, but the mortician will take care of that.

Say, Chris, we made a lot of changes since you were here, but there is one thing still going on that would remind you of the old days, except we have done a little redecorating. Pirates used to wear a red sash and carry a cutlass. We still have 'em, only now they put on a white collar and use a mahogany top desk for defense. It makes a more attractive window dressing. They get the swag without cutting your throat. You just starve to death, and while you are starving the other fellow is making application for parole.

You better come back and take a ride on one of our new boats. Instead of "walking the plank" they got it fixed up now so you can walk around the deck. You see you only had a one-way walk, and you didn't come back. Now you can't tell when you've been around so you just keep walking. They've got all kinds of playful exercises and sports. You can get into a poker game same as in the old sailing and steamboat days, and it's a lot easier to lose your money, as the slickers have grown slicker. Fact is you start to slide the moment you buy your chips.

You ought to be here to vote next November. We have all kinds of political expedients fixed up now. If you object to riding on the political hand wagon you can take a walk with Al Smith. There is one thing that might bother you a little. We've changed the alphabet and you may have to learn your ABC's all over again, but it will pay you to do it. Gosh, there's one party where your eligibility cannot be questioned. It's the old age party started by Dr. Townsend. You can get $200 a month and have a good time with it, as you got to spend it before it's time for the next $200 to be delivered. And we've made it easy to spend it. Got moving pictures, cocktail rooms, nudist colonies, football, baseball, eight-ball, oh, you can get bawled out most any time. You wouldn't recognize the old place, but don't worry, I'll furnish you a competent Missouri guide.

In event you do decide to accept my invitation to visit the new world which has now grown old, give me a few days' advance notice so I can select a welcoming committee, and have a key made. Besides, you won't need a key, as everything is wide-open now. You'll have a good time if you last that long.

My address is 935 Oak when I'm home, but the acorns are missing. You might try Seven-Nine-Four, or The Journal office, but the later address is somewhat precarious. You see I'm just hanging by my eyelashes. I'm the last column on the last page. Good-bye, Chris. If I never hear from you it will be what I expected.
